Hurricane Flora Kills 42, Heads For South Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Flora began to weaken today over the mountains of Cuba and gave signs of turning southwestward back into the Caribbean Sea. Hurricane warnings were lowered in the Bahamas Islands.

This unexpected turn in what forecasters called the most unpredictable storm in many a year also lessened danger to Florida.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Flora, stalled over Cuba, continued the relentless battering of that island today and hurled threatening gale winds out toward the Florida coast and the Bahamas.

By 8 a.m. (EST), the hurricane had been over mountainous south-east Cuba for 22 hours. Such a long battle with land would have dissipated many a storm, and Flora had been knocked slightly out of shape. But winds still howled at 110 miles an hour around her center.

Forty-two lives have been lost so far by this most savage hurricane to come out of the tropical Atlantic since 1961. Observers feared that when communications are restored, and the full story is known in Haiti and Cuba, the death toll will be much higher.

Land friction over Cuba and a large high pressure area to the north were reported to have been the cause of Flora's slowdown. At 8 a.m., the storm center stood almost stationary 70 miles southeast of Camaguey in southeastern Cuba.

South Florida interests were warned to keep in close touch with future hurricane bulletins. But forecaster Paul Moore said the high pressure probably will hold the storm away from states farther north.

Winds of 75 miles an hour were reported today at Santiago, on the south coast of Cuba, and Punta Lucracia on the north coast. Serious flooding appeared certain over the eastern part of Fidel Castro's Communist island.

The hurricane roughened the seas from the north coast of Jamaica to the Bahamas and the southeast Florida coast, keeping small craft pinned down in port.

The area of warning for dangerous winds, high tides and torrential rains extended from Cuba through the Bahamas and from Acklins Island to Andros Island. Andros lies only a little more than 100 miles off Miami.

At Nassau, capital of the Bahamas, the sounds of saws and hammers could be heard throughout the night as homes and business houses were boarded up.

Honduras Has Uneasy Calm

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP)—An uneasy calm prevailed over Honduras today as the armed forces chief assumed supreme powers following Thursday's bloody military coup.

With the last pockets of resistance apparently crushed, Col. Osvaldo Lopez Arellano proclaimed himself provisional president Friday. He faced a new problem immediately in the suspension of economic and military aid from the United States.

Although the country remained under martial law and a night-time curfew, other restrictions were eased after the sharp fighting in which the death toll was officially put at 21.

Stores in this Central American republic of 1.8 million persons reopened and telephone and plane service was restored.

Venezuela Red Terrorists Stir Up New Violence

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—At least five persons were killed Friday night in a renewal of terrorist violence in Caracas' slum areas touched off by a roundup of top Communist and leftist leaders.

Some reports said the death toll may be as high as 13. There were dozens of wounded.

The terrorists, waging their campaign against the pro-American government of Romulo Betancourt with new intensity, attacked police and military posts, hurled bombs, fired at military hospitals and burned cars.

The known dead included two policemen, two civilians and one possible terrorist. Several civilians were wounded by stray shots.

Judge Clears Romney Group In Libel Suit

DETROIT (AP)—Gov. George Romney, in what he said was his first court appearance ever, was dismissed Friday as a defendant in a $1 million libel suit filed by Richard Durant, a district Republican leader.

Wayne County Circuit Judge Joseph A. Moynihan Jr. also dismissed as defendants former Gov. Wilbur M. Brucker, Republican State Chairman Arthur G. Elliott Jr. and Richard C. Van Dusen, Romney's legal adviser.

Moments earlier, Durant demanded that Moynihan disqualify himself from the case. He accused Moynihan of showing "personal bias and prejudice" in conducting pre-trial proceedings.

Moynihan took the disqualification motion under advisement.

Durant, 14th Congressional District Republican leader, filed the libel suit against former State Sen. John H. Stahlin, his press aide, Charles Ferry, and nine co-defendants.

Durant contends Stahlin released a document stating that Durant was the "acknowledged leader" of a bid by "extremists" to take over the district organization.

Moynihan ruled there had been no evidence shown tying Romney, Brucker, Elliott and Van Dusen to the alleged libel.

Durant read a statement Friday saying that Romney asked party leaders in January, 1962, to form a committee specifically charged with removing Durant as leader of the 14th District GOP organization.

It was "common knowledge" among Romney and the other defendants that a public attack on Durant was being prepared, he said.

In his motion to disqualify Moynihan from hearing the suit, Durant produced a copy of a letter written by the judge in 1958. The letter called on GOP precinct delegates in the 14th District to remove the Durant-backed district chairman.

Romney was not called to testify. He told reporters later: "I didn't have a doggone thing to do with what Durant is talking about."

"I don't know anything about it, except, of course, that I was aware that efforts were being made to organize an opposition slate to Durant in the 14th District," Romney said.

"That was just ordinary politics," the governor added.

Summit Meeting Proposed For Asian Nations

TOKYO (AP)—Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda of Japan is reportedly making diplomatic overtures for a summit meeting of eight Asian nations.

The purpose of the meeting would be to strengthen regional solidarity in the western Pacific. The participants would be Japan, the Philippines, Indonesia, Australia, New Zealand, Malaysia, Nationalist China and Thailand.

Ikeda, who has been assigned the role of a possible peacemaker in the current Malaysia dispute, was said to have been considering the summit meeting even before the crisis arose. He was due to leave New Zealand today for the return to Tokyo after a tour that also took him to the Philippines, Indonesia, and Australia.

Buddhist Monk Burns Self To Death In Saigon

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A young Buddhist monk burned himself to death today in front of hundreds of horrified onlookers in Saigon's central market, throwing the Vietnamese capital into a new and potentially explosive turmoil.

The suicide, the sixth by Buddhists protesting alleged persecution by the predominantly Roman Catholic government of President Ngo Dinh Diem, came only four days after Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara left Saigon with a report for President Kennedy on the progress of the Vietnamese war against Communist guerrillas.

One of Kennedy's aims in dispatching McNamara to South Viet Nam was to determine whether the political-religious crisis had hurt the war effort.

Wire barricades rushed minutes after the monk's charred and blackened body toppled over, troops and police rushed in, tanks and armored cars rolled up and barbed wire barricades were thrown around downtown Saigon.

The monk, in his early 20s, stepped out of a taxicab at the busy central market intersection shortly after noon. He squatted down in the Buddhist lotus position, pulled a can of gasoline from a small rubber bag, poured the contents on his lap and lit a match.

He grimaced briefly as the flames engulfed him but maintained his erect posture as the flames ate through his Buddhist robe, baring his gradually blackening body. The lotus position is a traditional Buddhist sitting position with the legs crossed.

Three minutes later, his arms raised stiffly before him, the monk keeled over dead.

A leaflet thrown into the yard of Vietnamese intelligence headquarters identified the monk as Thich Quang Huong. It said he sacrificed himself for the Buddhist cause.

Newsman attacked plainclothesmen kicked and pummeled three American correspondents to the ground, grabbed a camera and ran off.

John Sharkey of the National Broadcasting Co. and Grant Wolfkill, also of NBC, were attacked as they turned movie cameras on the burning monk. Sharkey was bleeding from head injuries.

David Halberstam of the New York Times went to Sharkey's and Wolfkill's assistance and he was beaten also. The newsmen did not fight back but tried to protect their equipment.

Wolfkill lost his camera but Sharkey's was not confiscated. The police stopped the newsmen from driving off in a taxicab. They made their way to a nearby hotel and called a hospital.

Fire engines, squads of riot police and troops in battle gear took up positions in the middle of the intersection.

Kennedy To Visit Key States Of Texas, Florida

WASHINGTON (AP)—On the heels of his return from a one-day visit to Arkansas, President Kennedy has announced he will visit four other states this fall, including two key Southern battlegrounds—Texas and Florida.

Texas in particular figures to play an important part in next year's presidential election, especially if Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona is the Republican nominee.

Strong Goldwater sentiment in Texas was admitted Friday by Texas Gov. John Connally, after a visit with Kennedy at the White House. But he said the President still holds a substantial margin in Texas.

Texas' electoral vote total of 25 is the sixth highest in the nation and the largest number among the 11 Southern states.

Kennedy's visit to Texas Nov. 21 and 22, an admittedly political venture, is set for three days after two scheduled appearances for the chief executive appearances in Florida.

In the afternoon of Nov. 18, he is to address the State Chamber of Commerce at Tampa and in the evening he speaks to the Inter-American Press Association at Miami.

The Florida trip is labeled non-political. But it will give Kennedy exposure in a state that he lost by 46,776 votes in 1960 to former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Florida's 14 electoral votes

next year put it second to Texas among Southern states.

Kennedy's other trips announced Friday include two visits to his home state of Massachusetts and one to New York.

On Oct. 19 the President is scheduled to speak at a Democratic fund-raising dinner in Boston. On Oct. 26 he will receive an honorary degree and participate in ceremonies for a Robert Frost memorial library at Amherst College in Amherst, Mass.

Kennedy's other scheduled trip is a Nov. 8 visit to New York City where he will be honored at a testimonial dinner by the city's Protestant Council.

Both Massachusetts and New York gave hefty majorities to Kennedy in 1960 and are being counted on for 1964 by Democratic strategists.

Saigon Mission Gets Shakeup

WASHINGTON (AP)—The CIA chief in South Viet Nam is reportedly being called home in what may be the first step of a shakeup of American personnel in Saigon.

John H. Richardson is officially being recalled to Washington for consultations. But reliable sources indicate ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge wants to replace him as head of the Central Intelligence Agency mission in South Viet Nam.

The report of Richardson's recall came only three days after Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, completed an inspection trip in Viet Nam and reported to President Kennedy.

Richardson has been one of the key architects of U.S. effort to help President Ngo Dinh Diem's government out Communist guerrillas. State Department sources give him good marks in this respect.

But there have been persistent reports of differences between Lodge and the CIA mission and other agencies operating under Lodge's general direction in attempting to straighten out U.S.-Vietnamese relations.

Richardson, it is reliably reported, won't return to South Viet Nam.

It has been expected that Lodge would shake up the U.S. mission at Saigon.

James was arrested Friday by two Pontiac policemen as he crouched in the rear of a car at a drive-in restaurant here.

He had been the object of a search since he shot his father, William, 37, through the chest with a .22 caliber rifle Thursday. McConnell was wounded as he entered a bedroom to talk with James about his part in a stolen car incident which juvenile authorities were investigating.

After fleeing his home, James told police he roamed the woods nearby all night and slept in a car because he was afraid to go home.

Willis Gives Up $48,500 Post Under Pressure

CHICAGO (AP)—Benjamin W. Willis, the nation's second highest paid public official and a target of civil rights groups, has resigned his post as school superintendent.

Willis, whose annual salary is $48,500, has been under increasing attack from several groups for policies they contend are perpetuating segregation in Chicago's public schools.

Shortly before the 61-year-old administrator announced Friday that he was quitting, the Illinois Appellate Court dealt him a second setback in a case involving his refusal to carry out transfers for 24 top-ranked Negro students.

Willis, who was under contract until 1965, said a court decision ordering the transfer left him only two alternatives.

"I would, were I to continue, be either in contempt of court each day I refused to comply with the order," he said, "or I would sacrifice the integrity of the office of superintendent."

Combined Salary $80,500

Willis, a Peace Corps consultant and prominently mentioned possibility in 1961 for commissioner of education in the Kennedy administration, assumed the Chicago post in 1953. He came from a similar job in Buffalo, N.Y.

His resignation, rumored in recent months, was hailed by representatives of civil rights groups.

Mayor Richard J. Daley said he regretted that Willis "has taken this action" and "has left a tremendous loss to Chicago."

Criticism also stemmed from Willis' acceptance earlier this year of a $32,000-a-year job as executive director of a commission studying Massachusetts schools. The board voted 10-1 to permit him to handle it on weekends and during vacation periods.

The combined $80,500 annual salary from the two jobs placed Willis second only to President Kennedy in compensation for public officials in the U. S. The President is paid $100,000 a year.

The superintendent disclosed Friday that his letter of resignation, asking to be relieved of duty by Dec. 31, preferably by Oct. 31, had been written a week ago.

The letter, dated Sept. 26, protested addition of two overcrowded schools to a list of nine that his staff had designated to receive gifted students asking transfer from other high schools.

Willis said he had agreed the following day to withhold the resignation pending reconsideration of the list by the board at its regular Oct. 9 meeting. The filing of the court suit by six plaintiffs, including parents of four of the Negro students, followed.

The letter cited a study that concluded that the board should not attempt execution of school policies, but should back the superintendent as its chief officer in carrying them out.

The disagreement with the board focused on its decision to speed up a program of improvement of educational opportunities for Negroes. The decision followed summer-long complaints by Negro parents that their children had to attend overcrowded, inferior schools.

Vice President Lauds Detroit Olympics Drive

DETROIT (AP)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson telephoned his "good wishes and support" Friday to some 300 Detroit officials and business, labor and civic leaders attending a pep rally to spark the city's drive to win the 1968 Olympics.

Gov. George Romney, Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh and Fred C. Matthaei, head of the Detroit Olympic Committee, heard Johnson's call from Washington broadcast over loudspeakers at the pep rally—luncheon sponsored by the Adcraft Club of Detroit.

"Our good wishes and support are with you and we know that you and Michigan will do a great job of playing host to the world in 1968," the vice president said.

Head Of Chicago Schools Resigns In Racial Tangle

Judge Clears Romney Group In Libel Suit

DETROIT (AP)—Gov. George Romney, in what he said was his first court appearance ever, was dismissed Friday as a defendant in a $1 million libel suit filed by Richard Durant, a district Republican leader.

Wayne County Circuit Judge Joseph A. Moynihan Jr. also dismissed as defendants former Gov. Wilbur M. Brucker, Republican State Chairman Arthur G. Elliott Jr. and Richard C. Van Dusen, Romney's legal adviser.

Moments earlier, Durant demanded that Moynihan disqualify himself from the case. He accused Moynihan of showing "personal bias and prejudice" in conducting pre-trial proceedings.

Moynihan took the disqualification motion under advisement. Durant, 14th Congressional District Republican leader, filed the libel suit against former State Sen. John H. Stahlin, his press aide, Charles Perry, and nine co-defendants.

Durant contends Stahlin released a document stating that Durant was the "acknowledged leader" of a bid by "extremists" to take over the district organization.

Moynihan ruled there had been no evidence shown tying Romney, Brucker, Elliott and Van Dusen to the alleged libel.

Durant read a statement Friday saying that Romney asked party leaders in January, 1962, to form a committee specifically charged with removing Durant as leader of the 14th District GOP organization.

Willis said he had agreed the following day to withhold the resignation pending reconsideration of the list by the board at its regular Oct. 9 meeting. The filing of the court suit by six plaintiffs, including parents of four of the Negro students, followed.

The letter cited a study that concluded that the board should not attempt execution of school policies, but should back the superintendent as its chief officer in carrying them out.

The disagreement with the board focused on its decision to speed up a program of improvement of educational opportunities for Negroes. The decision followed summer-long complaints by Negro parents that their children had to attend overcrowded, inferior schools.

Vice President Lauds Detroit Olympics Drive

DETROIT (AP)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson telephoned his "good wishes and support" Friday to some 300 Detroit officials and business, labor and civic leaders attending a pep rally to spark the city's drive to win the 1968 Olympics.

Gov. George Romney, Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh and Fred C. Matthaei, head of the Detroit Olympic Committee, heard Johnson's call from Washington broadcast over loudspeakers at the pep rally — luncheon sponsored by the Adcraft Club of Detroit.

"Our good wishes and support are with you and we know that you and Michigan will do a great job of playing host to the world in 1968," the vice president said.

U.P. Teachers To Gather Here For Conference

All public schools in the Upper Peninsula will be closed Oct. 10-11 so area teachers may attend the annual fall Teachers' Conference for Regions 16, 17, and 18 of the Michigan Education Association. The conference will be held in Escanaba and over 2,500 educators will attend.

The conference will open with a special session, Wednesday, Oct. 9, at 8 p. m. The meeting, to be held in the Escanaba Area High School Auditorium, is aimed primarily at the general public and an explanation of the latest developments in education will constitute the major part of the program.

The professional portion of the conference will open with a general session, Thursday, Oct. 10, at 10:30 a. m. Glenn E. Snow, assistant executive secretary for lay relations, National Education Association, will keynote the meeting with a discussion of "Educational Prejudice and Community Pressures." Dr. E. Dale Kennedy, MEA executive secretary, will greet the educators.

General Sessions

John Metcalfe, news analyst and author of the daily newspaper feature "Portraits," will address the second general session, Oct. 10, at 7:30 p. m. Lynn Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction, will welcome the educators to this session.

The third general session, Friday, Oct. 11, at 11 a. m., will feature Bob Richards, who will present the topic "Motivation for Living." Also addressing the session briefly will be Octavius Townsend, MEA president and Ishpeming teacher.

Almost 75 small group meetings will be held in addition to the general sessions. They will cover topics ranging from retirement to aerospace education.

Special interest groups meeting at Escanaba High School, Oct. 10, at 1:30 p. m., are: Aerospace education, agriculture, secondary art, audio-visual education, biological science, conservation, debate coaches, fourth grade, fifth grade, sixth grade, elementary science, future teachers, homemaking, and kindergarten.

Other groups are: Library, music, physical sciences, school nurses, speech correction, student council advisers, Upper Peninsula counselors, and county superintendents.

Group Meetings

Other 1:30 meetings are: First grade, Escanaba Junior High; second grade, J. A. Lemmer School; third grade, Upper Peninsula Auditorium; junior high problems, Escanaba Junior High; and, Michigan High School Athletic Association, William Bonifas Auditorium.

Meeting at 12 noon are these groups: Physical education for women, Sherman Hotel; and, the Upper Peninsula Michigan Business Education Association, Marco's Restaurant.

Group meetings scheduled for 3 p. m., at Escanaba Area High School are: Chapter presidents, Copper Country industrial arts teachers, driver education, industrial arts curriculum committee, international understanding, legislation, mathematics, MEA insurance, Michigan Educational Home Association, Michigan Week, music, retirement, special education, speech correction, Teacher Education and Professional Standards, and tenure and contracts.

"Great Expectations," a float built by students of Home Rooms 112 and 103 at Holy Name High School, tied for third place in the annual homecoming parade held on Ludington St. Friday evening. The float tied with "Three Little Pigs" constructed by Home Rooms 109 and 405. Theme of the parade was nursery rhymes. Brother Gerald's Home Room, 108, and Sister Petrina's class, Room 102, joined forces to walk off with the first place winner, the "Cinderella" float. All nine floats that took part in Friday's parade will be on display at the Escanaba Athletic Field at 1 p. m. today for the Homecoming game with Kingsford. (Daily Press Photo)

Molin Named GOP Director

Keith Molin of Detroit, former resident of Escanaba, has been named director of organization in southeastern Michigan for the Republican State Central Committee.

Conference Officers

Another round of meetings is on Friday's agenda. Meeting at 9 a. m., at Escanaba Area High School are these groups: Elementary art; classical languages; cooperative training; industrial arts; elementary mathematics; elementary music; first-year teachers; health, physical education and recreation; homemaking; and, instructional materials.

Other meetings are: Journalism, modern languages, music, physical sciences, retired teachers, salary, social science, speech, and superintendents.

Other Friday meetings are: Delegates to MEA representative assembly, The Stone House, 7:30 a. m.; Department of Classroom Teachers, Sherman Hotel, 8 a. m.; and, secondary principals, Escanaba Area High School, 7:30 a. m.

Cecil C. Elmore, MEA assistant executive secretary for programs, is director of the 12 regional conferences being held throughout the state this fall. Clarence Zerbel, Escanaba Area Public Schools, is executive secretary of the Regions 16, 17, and 18 conference. Andrew McIntosh, Iron River High School, is chairman, and co-chairmen are Evelyn Berwin, Manistique Public Schools, and Edward Havitz, Escanaba Area Public Schools. Robert Ferguson is the MEA field staff representative to the Upper Peninsula.

The Holy Cross Toad lives in the semidesert of Central Australia. When it rains, the toad stores water in its body; in drought, it burrows deep into the hardening mud. Aborigines sometimes get a life-saving drink of water by squeezing the toad.

Molin, who has been a GOP field representative in the Detroit area since 1962, will be in charge of building the party's precinct organizations in Monroe, Wayne, Macomb and Oakland counties, reports state chairman Arthur G. Elliott, Jr.

A native of the Upper Peninsula, Molin was born in Escanaba on March 8, 1937. He is the son of Mrs. Ellen Molin of Gladstone, and the late John Molin.

Before joining the staff of the Republican Party, Molin was employed by the Marquette Chamber of Commerce. A 1955 graduate of Escanaba High School, he attended Northwestern University, the University of Michigan, the University of Georgia and received his BA degree from Northern Michigan College.

Active in high school football and baseball, Molin also participated in dramatics and forensics and was a member of the high school debate team. He served as an officer of his high school class for three years, was vice-president of the Hi-Y Society and Student Council and a member of the National Honor Society.

Molin was appointed to serve as an intern at the Constitutional Convention and in 1961 was awarded special honors in the Delta Sigma Rho Debate Tournament.

He is a member of the Evangelical Covenant Church and the Junior Chamber of Commerce. He lives at 14034 Mark Twain, Detroit.

Death Takes Rev. Foster, 73

The Rev. Thomas Foster, 73, of 247 E. Harding Ave., Ironwood, retired rector of the Episcopal Church, who served St. Stephen's in Escanaba from 1929 to 1936, died Thursday at his home.

Mr. Foster was prominent in both church and civic activities during his stay in Escanaba and was widely known and esteemed in the community.

Requiem Eucharist and burial office services were held at 9 a. m. today at the Church of the Transfiguration with the Rev. Robert C. Kilbourne officiating. Interment will be in a crypt beneath the main high altar of St. Paul's Cathedral in Detroit.

Mr. Foster was born in Darlington, Staffordshire, England, April 14, 1890. He was educated in English public and secondary schools. After coming to the United States in 1913 he attended Lawrence College in Appleton. He was accepted as a candidate for Holy Orders in the Diocese of Northern Michigan and served as lay minister of Church of the Transfiguration. Later he entered Bexley Hall, graduate school theology of Kenyon College, Gambier, Ohio, and was graduated in 1922.

He served Iron County Missions, was ordained to the priesthood in 1923 at Crystal Falls by Bishop Robert L. Harris and the same year became rector of St. John's Church in Negaunee.

He came to Escanaba from St. John's and after leaving here served at Piqua, Ohio. He was in Detroit nearly ten years and his last assignment was rector of All Saints' Episcopal Church in Brooklyn, Mich. He retired in 1958, and had lived in Ironwood since that time.

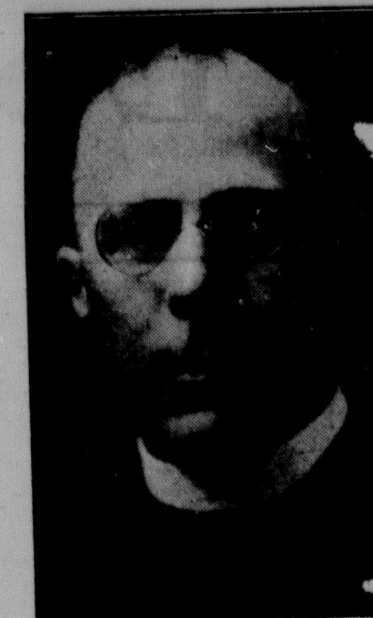

He was an active member of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew and was past chaplain of Group 17, Civil Air Patrol, at Jackson, with the rank of major.

He is survived by his wife, the former Margaret Crosby of Ironwood, and several nieces and nephews.

Briefly Told

Traffic court summons have been issued to Escanaba police to William J. Whitburn, 809 S. 13th St., failing to exercise due care in backing; and August A. Fudala, Bark River, failing to stop in the assured clear distance, and expired chauffeur's license.

Escanaba police have at the station a woman's blue hand bag which may be claimed after identification by the owner. In the purse is a letter addressed to Keith Buckland, Escanaba Rte. 1.

Owner Sampler Kits Offered

Delta County now has a low-cost mail-in owner sampling milk testing service says County Extension Director J. L. Heirman.

Heirman says samples are mailed periodically to a central testing laboratory in Menominee County in special containers that have been designed or farmers' convenience and to assure an accurate test.

The service was designed by Menominee County Extension Director Gail Bowers for the convenience of dairymen in Marquette, Delta, Schoolcraft, Dickinson, Iron and Menominee counties.

"It is much more efficient than each group of dairymen developing their own testing laboratory," says Heirman, who urged farmers to start on the program in October, the first month of a new testing year in Michigan.

Some areas of Delta County are on the route for pick up rather than mailing. The cost is the same regardless whether it is mailed or picked up by one of the testers.

Lake States Trade Gains

The economy of the Ninth Federal Reserve District seems to have ended the summer on a moderate up-note, the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis reports.

Farmers have produced larger crops than expected at midyear, with final out-put above the five-year average and at near record proportions. Prices received by farmers improved some during the third quarter following a sharp slump in livestock prices in the spring period. While little improvement is expected in farmers' net income position, gross farm income may have expanded more than usual seasonally during the third quarter.

Nonagricultural employment increased only moderately during the summer period, although manufacturing and construction showed strong gains. In general, district employment trends seem to be following approximately the same pattern as the U. S., though weekly hours worked in manufacturing have been consistently higher in the district during the summer.

Expansion trends in such business indicators as bank deposits, retail trade, industrial use of electric power, and personal incomes have been strong in recent weeks. Since January this year, personal incomes have averaged better

Suomi Enrolls Largest Number

HANCOCK—Suomi College enrollment this fall is the largest in the 67 year history of the college. The main reason is that over 20 per cent of the students are from out of state.

Illinois has the largest number, 15, in attendance; 12 other states are represented on campus this fall as well as Finland. There are 145 students on campus from the four county area here while 34 students are from other parts of the state. Students coming the longest distance are Marjatta Valve of Helsinki and Liisa Fransila of Lapua, Finland.

Of the 225 enrolled, 123 are freshmen.

than 6 per cent above the first eight months of 1962, for a performance above that of the U. S., where improvement was below 5 per cent.

District mining activity during recent months has not quite matched the same period a year ago in output and employment.

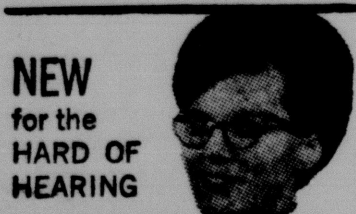

THANK YOU!

Rev. and Mrs. Karl J. Hammar are very grateful for the many tokens of esteem which they received at the farewell receptions held for them on Saturday evening, September 28 at Central Methodist Church and at the Cornell Methodist Church Sunday evening, September 29.

We wish to say thank you to the members of the Official Board of Central Methodist Church, to the members of the Evening Circle, and the W.S.C.S., to the congregation at large and to the many friends who by their presence and gifts overwhelmed us by their kindness.

We also wish to acknowledge the kind interest of the Escanaba Daily Press, and of Radio Station W.D.B.C., the Escanaba City Commission and the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce for their resolutions of commendation, and to the many people of Central Methodist Radio Parish for their many letters and gifts. May God bless you all.

Rites Saturday

DETROIT (AP)—Funeral services will be held Saturday at suburban Birmingham for Mrs. Marion Holden Bemis, writer, publicist and for more than 30 years prominent in Detroit area public affairs. She died at the age of 70 Wednesday. Illness three years ago forced her retirement as public relations director of the Cranbrook Institutions of Bloomfield Hills.

Chest X-Rays To Continue

The Delta-Menominee mobil X-ray unit, which is conducting chest X-rays and blood tests in the 2 county area during the month of October, will remain at the Delta County Building for one more week. Hours during which residents may visit the unit next week for the chest X-ray or the blood test will be 12-4 and 5-9 p.m. Monday through Thursday. On Friday the hours will be from 11 a. m. to 4 p.m. and from 5 to 9 p.m.

The chest X-ray tests and diabetes screening tests are given free of charge. The chest X-ray is for detection of tuberculosis, heart disease, lung disease and blood vessel disease.

While the tests are open to persons 30 years of age and over, special cases under 30 years of age will be processed if approved by the Department. Requests may be made at the Escanaba or Menominee department offices.

Business Ed Group To Meet

The Upper Peninsula Michigan Business Education Association will hold its annual meeting at Marquette's in Escanaba Thursday, Oct. 10, in conjunction with the annual Michigan Education Association convention, announces Mrs. Hilka Chubb, Marquette, president. Mrs. Chubb is an instructor at Northern Michigan University's area training center.

Dr. Russell J. Hosler, professor of education and commerce, University of Wisconsin, will deliver the keynote address on shorthand and use of multiple-channel tape teaching procedures.

Another speaker will be Miss Kay Lund, Minneapolis, representative of International Business Machines, Inc., who will speak on "Innovations — So What?" discussing the opportunities available to business graduates today.

Tourist Agency Seeks New Name For Lake Loop

MARQUETTE — The Upper Peninsula has benefited, and will continue to do so, from travel generated by Northern Great Lakes Area Council promotional programs, Ken Dorman, secretary-manager of the Upper Michigan Tourist Association, believes.

NORGLAC's recent meeting at Wisconsin Dells, Wis., revealed that the organization spent $30,000 for advertising and publicity purposes the past year — "Much of it devoted to Lake Superior attractions."

Unlike some organizations which stress "travel" features of their regions, NORGLAC — comprised of and officially financed by the states of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan and the Canadian province of Ontario — stresses recreation advantages found in the northern Great Lakes area.

"Such an appeal is more likely to 'hold' vacationers visiting this region," Dorman declared. Dorman said that the council is seeking to have the road around Lake Superior, commonly referred to as the "circle route," to be given a more appropriate name. "International Friendship Highway" has been suggested.

This pen of Hereford young feeder stock for the beef trade has been delivered by John Norman of Rock to the Escanaba Livestock Auction for next Tuesday's auction. Joseph Greenleaf Assigned To Navy Technical School board motor broke and they were unable to return to Manistique.

Seaman Apprentice Joseph A. Greenleaf left today for Great Lakes Naval Training Station where he will be enrolled in an electronics technician course. He is the son of the Joseph Greenleafs of 616 S. 8th St. and is a 1963 graduate of Holy Name High School.

His basic training with the U. S. Coast Guard was completed at Cape May, N. J., and he is reporting to Great Lakes after spending an eight-day leave with his parents here. He will be at Great Lakes for about a year.

The trio were sighted from the air at 1 a.m. by Clarence Gerlach and Larry Boyd of the Air Search and Rescue Squad. The plane went up at 11:55 p.m. at request of Sheriff Lloyd Gray.

Members of the families earlier had gone up the river in a boat but were unable to find the young men. They are Raymond DeRusha, 20; Gerald Demars, 19, and Arthur Schultz 26.

They were without a light when their motor broke down about nine miles from Manistique. They built a fire which was seen from the plane. Raymond DeRusha, father of Raymond, and Arness DeMars, father of Gerald, went up in a boat and returned with the trio.

Mrs. Murray, 86, Taken By Death In Crystal Falls

Mrs. Julia Murray, 86, Crystal Falls, former resident of Escanaba, died Friday at 8:45 a. m., at Iron County Hospital where she had been a patient six weeks.

She was born Aug. 7, 1877, in Fayette, and moved to Escanaba with her family as a child. She resided here 30 years before moving to Crystal Falls, and returned to Escanaba to live from 1950 to 1958.

She was married to Edward Murray in 1905 and he died in 1948.

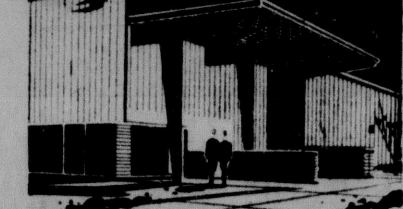

Surviving are one step-son, Lawrence Murray, Oakland, Calif., two sons, Edward Chartier of St. Louis, Mo., and George Chartier, Keyport, N. J., one daughter, Mrs. Adele Engstrom of Crystal Falls, one sister, Mrs. Margaret Hart, Escanaba, ten grandchildren and 25 great grandchildren.

Friends may call at the Allo Funeral Home after 3 p. m., Monday and liturgical prayers will be recited at 8 p. m. Funeral services will be held at St. Patrick's Church Tuesday at 9 a. m. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Martin B. Melican will officiate. Burial will be in Holy Cross Cemetery.

Hospital Care $40.33 Per Day

A survey of hospital statistics for 1962, conducted by the Michigan Hospital Association and other health agencies confirms a downward trend of births in the state.

In 1962, a total of 183,278 births were recorded, a drop of 8,952 from the 1961 total of 192,230. Michigan's birth rate had been gradually falling for the five year period preceding 1961, but not with the suddenness of last year's drop. For example, the 1961 total was only 2,698 less than the 1960 total of 194,928.

The survey revealed that the average cost for each day a patient spends in a Michigan hospital has more than doubled in the last 10 years, increasing from $19.22 to $40.33 a day. Expense of an average stay in the hospital, slightly more than a week, increased during the same period from $145 to $310 in 1962.

The increased cost of hospital care is a direct reflection of the steadily rising payroll costs in Michigan hospitals.

The rate of admissions to all general hospitals in Michigan is one for every 6.9 persons.

Ishpeming To Seek Annexation Okay At Polls

ISHPEMING — For a year or more the Ishpeming Township Board of Education has considered making a formal request to the Ishpeming Board of Education to be annexed to the city's school district.

In a joint meeting of the two boards, the possibility of forming one district was discussed and decision reached that it would be advantageous to both districts. The Ishpeming Board of Education indicated it would act favorably on any request by the township board.

The trend to form larger districts, offering every child an education from kindergarten through the 12th grade, has increased during the last five years in Michigan.

The feeling of both boards of education was that it would be better to permit the people

Edmund Duca Resigns From School Board

STEPHENSON — Edmond Duca, a trustee of the Board of Education of the Stephenson Consolidated School District two years, has sent a request to the Board of Education asking that his resignation be accepted.

Duca stated that he was reluctant to request a resignation but that he was forced to do so because of his increased responsibilities in the Social Welfare Department in Menominee.

The board tabled the request until as a new appointee can be selected and approved. The new appointee would serve as a trustee until June 30. A member would be elected at the annual school election in June to fill Duca's unexpired term to June 30, 1965.

Business Ed Group To Meet

The Upper Peninsula Michigan Business Education Association will hold its annual meeting at Marquette, Mich., Thursday, Oct. 10, in conjunction with the annual Michigan Education Association convention, announces Mrs. Hilka Chubb, Marquette, president. Mrs. Chubb is an instructor at Northern Michigan University's area training center.

Dr. Russell J. Hosler, professor of education and commerce, University of Wisconsin, will deliver the keynote address on shorthand and use of multiple-channel tape teaching procedures.

Another speaker will be Miss Kay Lund, Minneapolis, representative of International Business Machines, Inc., who will speak on "Innovations — So What?" discussing the opportunities available to business graduates today.

Tourist Agency Seeks New Name For Lake Loop

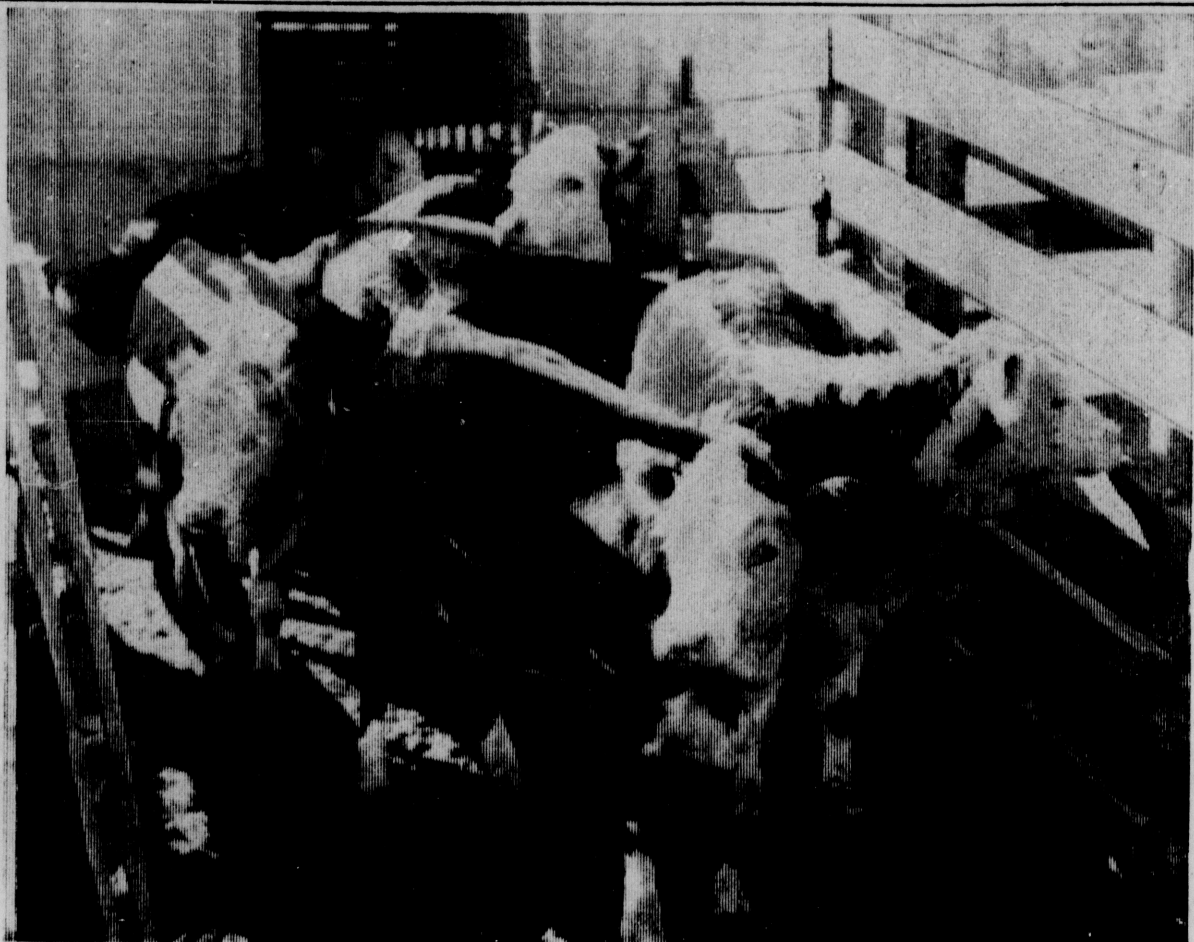

MARQUETTE — The Upper Peninsula has benefited, and will continue to do so, from travel generated by Northern Great Lakes Area Council promotional programs, Ken Dorman, secretary-manager of the Upper Michigan Tourist Association, believes.

NORGLAC's recent meeting at Wisconsin Dells, Wis., revealed that the organization spent $30,000 for advertising and publicity purposes the past year — "Much of it devoted to Lake Superior attractions."

Unlike some organizations which stress "travel" features of their regions, NORGLAC — comprised of and officially financed by the states of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan and the Canadian province of Ontario — stresses recreation advantages found in the northern Great Lakes area.

"Such an appeal is more likely to 'hold' vacationers visiting this region," Dorman declared.

Dorman said that the council is seeking to have the road around Lake Superior, commonly referred to as the "circle route," to be given a more appropriate name. "International Friendship Highway" has been suggested.

Shopping In The U. P.

Merchandising changes, like everything else. In the Upper Peninsula's larger cities it has changed. The keepers of our communities suggest at times that it hasn't changed enough, because U. P. merchants are losing volumes of sales to merchants in larger cities to the south in Wisconsin.

Sometimes local patriotism is suggested as a means to combat this flight of the buyer to distant markets. Buy at home campaigns result. They may make the merchants who sponsor them feel good, but they're misdirected and ineffective. People don't shop to support their home community, they shop to acquire needs or pleasures.

There are much better reasons for shopping near home than because it's good for taxes or because it helps our merchant friends. People shop for values. Those offered at home can hardly be topped. If the shopper goes afar for values, he's deceiving himself, but if he's helped usually admit that it isn't for values that he drives 100 miles to shop; it's for adventure.

The local merchants who don't pool their resources to create community shopping areas that are competitively attractive with other cities are encouraging the flight of their customers. This is more true today than ever before in increasingly mobile America.

Nearly all the community planners who have visited the Upper Peninsula have commended its parks and public buildings, schools, churches, utility provisions and other needs, and cited as a gross deficiency the development of the business districts.

A marketing specialist with experience in Upper Peninsula retailing comments: "When I was managing a large chain store in the U. P. I checked a big new discount store in Green Bay. I toured the store carefully, checking quality and price of goods. I found many articles that we were selling which were identical with the offerings of the Green Bay stores and which we were selling at 10 per cent less."

"I didn't see anything that was a bargain. They had some easily identified items that had been marked red hot, but these composed only 3 per cent of the store's stock. They offered men's dress shirts at $1.88 when everyone knows that they're regularly sold at from $2.98 to $3.98. But what was the quality? They were in cellophane bags and you didn't know the quality until you got the shirts home. They had boys' T-shirts at 'big savings,' but what of the quality?"

This is a pro speaking of values. Any claim for better values in the bigger cities was, he said, for the birds. And then he put the whole thing in focus by saying that his daughter begged him for permission to shop out of town. The situation, of course, is a progressive pedro. In Green Bay the shoppers wish they were in Milwaukee.

The moral is that there's much more to shopping than shopping and that the merchant who doesn't help his community create an atmosphere of adventure and pleasure for the shopper isn't doing a really good job of merchandising.

Finding The Way

Don't Miss The Chance!

By RALFE W. LOEW, D. D.

The sign read in part, "You can't afford to miss this opportunity." It recounted the advantages of buying merchandise from this particular store. It may have been a rare chance, but I missed it.

It set me wondering about what we can really afford. Reared in the atmosphere of a thrifty household, we were taught that we should be certain that we could afford all the purchases we made. That was before the growth of a credit system and a new school of economics that emphasizes other values.

Yet it is not just monetary purchases that ought to concern us. It is, rather, the insistent challenges of these days. We can't afford to miss them. Our cities can't afford to allow any more time to go by without solving their housing crises. Political leaders can't afford to do those things which degrade the office. Our democratic system can't afford to overlook problems that range from unemployment to responsible freedom. Or are we to seem to admit that a democracy can't afford its way of life? Is this form of government unable to devise the way by which its schools in rural as well as urban centers can be adequately supported, its inner tensions solved and its announced idealism expressed in its way of life? What men think they can afford is too often based on ephemeral values.

Time can be wasted or used. Money can be frittered or employed. Talents can be abused or multiplied. Economist Barbara Ward insists "The dice are not hopelessly loaded against us. Our morals and our interests — seen in true perspective — do not pull apart. Only the narrowness of our interests, whether personal or national, blinds us to this moral truth."

We can't afford this narrowness in these revolutionary times. We can't afford a kind of apathy which infects so much of our complacency, which causes us to hope that something will turn up at the right time to handle our moral problems. None of us can afford to be enslaved by our novelties and our gadgets.

History has a way of insisting, "You can't afford to miss this opportunity."

"Won't Take Long to Settle THIS East-West Crisis"

BRUCE SHANKS, BUFFALO EVENING NEWS

Edson In Washington

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON — (N.E.A.) — Creation of a government field service for consumer protection throughout the country is one of the more challenging ideas to be suggested in the first report from President Kennedy's Consumer Advisory Council. CAC—now being readied for early release.

And to top this, there is another proposal that the government sponsor—that is, publish—a monthly news letter to provide a two-way flow of information between consumers and government agencies charged with protecting the public interest.

These and other such forward-looking ideas may be shrugged off in Washington as just a lot more welfare state planning, which goes on all the time.

Then, around the country, among merchants and manufacturers, any thought of more government horning in and reporting on consumer goods offered for sale to the public in a free market may be considered too much interference with private enterprise, even to protect buyers.

The Consumer Advisory Council report in nearly final form is said to contain such an unsystematized collection of recommendations that it is something of a mishmash.

It asks the U. S. Department of Agriculture to review its standards for grading and labeling, to obtain more uniformity. The council asks for souped-up enforcement of consumer protection orders, with less discretion left to the judgment of inspectors who pass on everything from meats to housing.

The council endorses the idea proposed by Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., and others for labeling of wood products and household furniture. This would give consumers the same protection they now have on wool and synthetic fiber textiles. Labeling would also be required on all repackaged imports.

In its recommendations on consumer safety, CAC advocates more staff for the Food and Drug Administration for premarketing inspection of cosmetics and labeling hazardous substances.

National safety standards would also be set on electrical and other household equipment. National as opposed to state standards are recommended for highway safety.

The council asks for a study of converting all U. S. measurements to the metric system. It recommends that the Bureau of Standards be strengthened for more research and dissemination of information to the public on consumer hard goods.

The council also endorses such varied programs as health insurance under social security, low income tax reductions, better public accommodations for Negroes and much more public education on consumer credit uses and costs.

Those are mere highlights in what is probably the most comprehensive report on consumer protection ever compiled.

The 12-member Consumer Advisory Council was appointed over a year ago at the suggestion of President Kennedy. It has worked quietly—perhaps too quietly—with the President's Council of Economic Advisers under chairman Walter Heller. There have been no public hearings and no progress reports. This has given some impression of inactivity.

Actually, the final CAC report was drafted by Dr. Robert J. Lampman, professor of economics at University of Wisconsin.

The draft report was submitted to the 23 U. S. government agencies now having offices for consumer protection. After their review, final revisions were made by CAC and CEA.

Members of the Consumer Advisory Council under chairmanship of Dean Helen G. Conover of Cornell's School of Economics include: Dr. Caroline Ware, former chairman of Consumer Clearing House; Mrs. Persia Campbell, City University of New York; Mrs. Helen E. Nelson, California Consumer Council; Mrs. John G. Lee, former president, League of Women Voters; Sylvia Porter, financial columnist.

Also, these male members served: David Angewine, Co-operative League, Chicago; Dr. Edward E. Lewis, New York Urban League; Minnesota's Attorney General Walter F. Mondale; Dr. Richard L. D. Morse of Kansas University; and Dr. Colston E. Warne, president of the Consumers Union.

Thyroid Study Aids Dairying

EAST LANSING — Thyroid research at Michigan State University is helping man "manipulate animals to his own ends." This means—among other things—more milk from cows, new breeding times for sheep and easier-to-pick feathers from ducklings.

Heading up the MSU research project is E. Paul Reineke, professor of physiology and pharmacology who has been studying the activity of the thyroid gland and measuring the amount of thyroxine it secretes in a given day. From this basic information, he hopes some day to develop animals with different levels of metabolism.

"We are already able to reproduce thyroxine synthetically," reports Reineke. "By combining this hormone with a protein, we can make a feed additive (thyroprotein) which stimulates milk production in cattle and increases the growth rate of some species of animals."

"Dairy cattle exhibit quick rises in production, sometimes increasing their milk output by as much as 20 per cent," Reineke claims. "This practice, which is used to some degree in the high-production dairy feed lots of California, has not yet gained wide acceptance. Some argue that the hormone causes cows to 'burn out' too soon, resulting in a shorter productive life."

The MSU scientist points out that increased doses of thyroxine can also stimulate growth of wool, fur and feathers. In fact, ducklings that are fed the thyroprotein not only produce more feathers, but the feathers are easier to pick.

Emil Sundberg, Formerly Of Gladstone, Dies

Emil E. Sundberg, who resided in Gladstone many years ago and in retirement lived at Grand Rapids, died there Friday afternoon, relatives have been informed.

Mr. Sundberg returned to visit often in Gladstone and at the Arnold Berg home in Escanaba. He was a brother of the late Alex Berg of Gladstone.

The body will be brought to the Kelley Funeral Home, Gladstone, where friends may call beginning at 3 p. m. Monday. Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p. m. Tuesday at the funeral home. Burial will be in Fernwood Cemetery.

Memory Lane

By J. R. LOWELL

Ten Years Ago

Charles Richard Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Peterson, of Ensign, according to records at St. Francis Hospital, is the largest baby born in that institution. At birth he weighed 12 pounds, one ounce, is 21 inches long and measures 15 inches around his head and his chest. His daughter, Danette JoAnn, now 17 months old, weighed 10 pounds, 8 ounces at birth.

Stephen DeRousha, 9, is safe in his Manitouque home after being lost in the woods in Hia-watha township for 22 hours. State Police, national guardsmen and relatives patrolled the area all night, finding him this morning. He was cold and very hungry, but otherwise in good condition.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Erickson, widely known Bark River pioneer residents, are observing their golden wedding today.

Twenty Years Ago Dr. Charles F. Whiteside, of Trout Creek, a director of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau and active in promoting the industrial and scenic advantages of the Upper Peninsula, died today.

Grocery prices are up, but not to any unreasonable degree. Local ads feature sirloin steak, 32 cents; ground beef, 26 cents; veal 27 cents, flour 49 lbs., $1.91; coffee, 21 cents pound.

Otto Kivela, 61, of Rock was killed when a radius rod of his car snapped and he lost control of the vehicle.

Thirty Years Ago Mrs. Jirat Richard, a 35-year-old widow who hails from Czechoslovakia, is in Escanaba this week inspecting the Birds-eye Vener plant. She recently inherited a plant in her native land and is visiting vener plants in America in order to get know-how information. She is determined to run the plant herself.

The duck hunting season was over in a hurry for Harry Young of Newberry. He took a pot shot at a flock of birds just rising up from the water and shot five of them. That was the day's limit.

William Barron, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barron, of Flat Rock is being treated in St. Francis Hospital. While attempting to pound a nail in a wall, the nail became dislodged and flew into his mouth, entering his bronchial tube. He is reported in serious condition.

Investigate B&E Of Local Store

Gladstone City Police are investigating a breaking and entering of the Star Grocery, 814 Delta Ave., which is believed to have occurred sometime Thursday.

Walter Johnson, proprietor, notified police that the rear door of the building had been forced to gain entry to the basement. It was also discovered that three cases of beer had been hidden under a landing, apparently to be picked up at a later date. The entry was discovered by the owner Friday morning.

Shopping In The U. P.

Merchandising changes, like everything else. In the Upper Peninsula's larger cities it has changed. The keepers of our communities suggest at times that it hasn't changed enough, because U. P. merchants are losing volumes of sales to merchants in larger cities to the south in Wisconsin.

Sometimes local patriotism is suggested as a means to combat this flight of the buyer to distant markets. Buy at home campaigns result. They may make the merchants who sponsor them feel good, but they're misdirected and ineffective. People don't shop to support their home community, they shop to acquire needs or pleasures.

There are much better reasons for shopping near home than because it's good for taxes or because it helps our merchant friends. People shop for values. Those offered at home can hardly be topped. If the shopper goes afar for values, he's deceiving himself, but if he's he'll usually admit that it isn't for values that he drives 100 miles to shop; it's for adventure.

The local merchants who don't pool their resources to create community shopping areas that are competitively attractive with other cities are encouraging the flight of their customers. This is more true today than ever before in increasingly mobile America.

Nearly all the community planners who have visited the Upper Peninsula have commended its parks and public buildings, schools, churches, utility provisions and other needs, and cited as a gross deficiency the development of the business districts.

A marketing specialist with experience in Upper Peninsula retailing comments: "When I was managing a large chain store in the U. P. I checked a big new discount store in Green Bay. I toured the store carefully, checking quality and price of goods. I found many articles that we were selling which were identical with the offerings of the Green Bay stores and which we were selling at 10 per cent less."

"I didn't see anything that was a bargain. They had some easily identified items that had been marked red hot, but these composed only 3 per cent of the store's stock. They offered men's dress shirts at $1.88 when everyone knows that they're regularly sold at from $2.98 to $3.98. But what was the quality? They were in cellophane bags and you didn't know the quality until you got the shirts home. They had boys' T-shirts at 'big savings,' but what of the quality?"

This is a pro speaking of values. Any claim for better values in the bigger cities was, he said, for the birds. And then he put the whole thing in focus by saying that his daughter bugged him for permission to shop out of town. The situation, of course, is a progressive pedro. In Green Bay the shoppers wish they were in Milwaukee.

The moral is that there's much more to shopping than shopping and that the merchant who doesn't help his community create an atmosphere of adventure and pleasure for the shopper isn't doing a really good job of merchandising.

Finding The Way

Don't Miss The Chance!

By RALPH W. LOEW, D. D.

The sign read in part, "You can't afford to miss this opportunity." It recounted the advantages of buying merchandise from this particular store. It may have been a rare chance, but I missed it.

It set me wondering about what we can really afford. Reared in the atmosphere of a thrifty household, we were taught that we should be certain that we could afford all the purchases we made. That was before the growth of a credit system and a new school of economics that emphasizes other values.

Yet it is not just monetary purchases that ought to concern us. It is, rather, the insistent challenges of these days. We can't afford to miss them. Our cities can't afford to allow any more time to go by without solving their housing crises. Political leaders can't afford to do those things which degrade the office. Our democratic system can't afford to overlook problems that range from unemployment to responsible freedom.

Or are we to seem to admit that a democracy can't afford to be a democracy?

It is this form of government unable to devise the way by which its schools in rural as well as urban centers can be adequately supported, its inner tensions solved and its announced idealism expressed in its way of life?

What men think they can afford is too often based on ephemeral values.

Time can be wasted or used. Money can be frittered or employed. Talents can be abused or multiplied. Economist Barbara Ward insists "The dice are not hopelessly loaded against us. Our morals and our interests — seen in true perspective — do not pull apart. Only the narrowness of our interests, whether personal or national, blinds us to this moral truth."

We can't afford this narrowness in these revolutionary times.

We can't afford a kind of apathy which infects so much of our complacency, which causes us to hope that something will turn up at the right time to handle our moral problems. None of us can afford to be enslaved by our novelties and our gadgets.

History has a way of insisting, "You can't afford to miss this opportunity."

"Won't Take Long to Settle THIS East-West Crisis"

BRUCE SHANKS, BUFFALO EVENING NEWS

Edson In Washington

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON — (N E A) — Creation of a government field service for consumer protection throughout the country is one of the more challenging ideas to be suggested in the first report from President Kennedy's Consumer Advisory Council—CAC—now being readied for early release.

And to top this, there is another proposal that the government sponsor—that is, publish—a monthly news letter to provide a two-way flow of information between consumers and government agencies charged with protecting the public interest.

These and other such forward-looking ideas may be shrugged off in Washington as just a lot more welfare state planning, which goes on all the time.

Then, around the country, among merchants and manufacturers, any thought of more government horning in and reporting on consumer goods offered for sale to the public in a free market may be considered a too much interference with private enterprise, even to protect buyers.

The Consumer Advisory Council report in nearly final form is said to contain such an unsystematized collection of recommendations that it is something of a mishmash.

It asks the U. S. Department of Agriculture to review its standards for grading and labeling, to obtain more uniformity. The council asks for souped-up enforcement of consumer protection orders, with less discretion left to the judgment of inspectors who pass on everything from meats to housing.

The council endorses the idea proposed by Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., and others for labeling of wood, and products and household furniture. This would give consumers the same protection they now have on wool and synthetic fiber textiles. Labeling would also be required on all repackaged imports.

In its recommendations on consumer safety, CAC advocates more staff for the Food and Drug Administration for premarketing inspection of cosmetics and labeling hazardous substances.

National safety standards would also be set on electrical and other household equipment. National as opposed to state standards are recommended for highway safety.

The council asks for a study of converting all U. S. measurements to the metric system. It recommends that the Bureau of Standards be strengthened for more research and dissemination of information to the public on consumer hard goods.

The council also endorses such varied programs as health insurance under social security, low income tax-reductions, better public accommodations for Negroes and much more public education on consumer credit uses and costs.

Those are mere highlights in what is probably the most comprehensive report on consumer protection ever compiled.

The 12-member Consumer Advisory Council was appointed over a year ago at the suggestion of President Kennedy. It has worked quietly—perhaps too quietly—with the President's Council of Economic Advisers under chairman Walter Heller. There have been no public hearings and no progress reports. This has given some impression of inactivity.

Actually, the final CAC report was drafted by Dr. Robert J. Lampman, professor of economics at University of Wisconsin.

The draft report was submitted to the 23 U. S. government agencies now having offices for consumer protection. After their review, final revisions were made by CAC and CEA.

Members of the Consumer Advisory Council under chairmanship of Dean Helen G. Conover of Cornell's School of Economics include: Dr. Caroline Ware, former chairman of Consumer Clearing House; Mrs. Persia Campbell, City University of New York; Mrs. Helen E. Nelson, California Consumer Council; Mrs. John G. Lee, former president, League of Women Voters; Sylvia Porter, financial columnist.

Also, these male members served: David Aengine, Co-operative League, Chicago; Dr. Edward E. Lewis, New York Urban League; Minnesota's Attorney General Walter F. Mondale; Dr. Richard L. D. Morse of Kansas University, and Dr. Colston E. Warner, president of the Consumers Union.

Thyroid Study Aids Dairying

EAST LANSING — Thyroid research at Michigan State University is helping man "manipulate animals to his own ends." This means—among other things — more milk from cows, new breeding times for sheep and easier-to-pick feathers from ducklings.

Heading up the MSU research project is E. Paul Reincke, professor of physiology and pharmacology who has been studying the activity of the thyroid gland and measuring the amount of thyroxine it secretes in a given day. From this basic information, he hopes some day to develop animals with different levels of metabolism.

"We are already able to reproduce thyroxine synthetically," reports Reincke. "By combining this hormone with a protein, we can make a feed additive (thyroprotein) which stimulates milk production in cattle and increases the growth rate of some species of animals."

"Dairy cattle exhibit quick rises in production, sometimes increasing their milk output by as much as 20 per cent," Reincke claims. "This practice, which is used to some degree in the high-production dairy feed lots of California, has not yet gained wide acceptance. Some argue that the hormone causes cows to 'burn out' too soon, resulting in a shorter productive life."

The MSU scientist points out that increased doses of thyroxine can also stimulate growth of wool, fur and feathers. In fact, ducklings that are fed the thyroprotein not only produce more feathers, but the feathers are easier to pick.

Emil Sundberg, Formerly Of Gladstone, Dies

Emil E. Sundberg, who resided in Gladstone many years ago and in retirement lived at Grand Rapids, died there Friday afternoon, relatives have been informed.

Mr. Sundberg returned to visit often in Gladstone and at the Arnold Berg home in Escanaba. He was a brother of the late Alex Berg of Gladstone.

The body will be brought to the Kelley Funeral Home, Gladstone, where friends may call beginning at 3 p. m., Monday. Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p. m., Tuesday at the funeral home. Burial will be in Fernwood Cemetery.

Memory Lane

By J. R. LOWELL

Ten Years Ago

Charles Richard Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Peterson, of Ensign, according to records at St. Francis Hospital, is the largest baby born in that institution. At birth he weighed 12 pounds, one ounce, is 21 inches long and measures 15 inches around his head and his chest. Their daughter, Danette JoAnn, now 17 months old, weighed 10 pounds, 8 ounces at birth.

Stephen DeRousha, 9, is safe in his Manitique home after being lost in the woods in Hiawatha township for 22 hours. State Police, national guardsmen and relatives patrolled the area all night, finding him this morning. He was cold and very hungry, but otherwise in good condition.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Erickson, widely known Bark River pioneer residents, are observing their golden wedding today.

Twenty Years Ago
Dr. Charles F. Whiteside, of Trout Creek, a director of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau and active in promoting the industrial and scenic advantages of the Upper Peninsula, died today.

Grocery prices are up, but not to any unreasonable degree. Local ads feature sirloin steak, 32 cents; ground beef, 26 cents; veal, 27 cents, flour 49 lbs., $1.91; coffee, 21 cents pound.

Otto Kivela, 61, of Rock was killed when a radius rod of his car snapped and he lost control of the vehicle.

Thirty Years Ago
Mrs. Jirat Richard, a 35-year-old widow who hails from Czechoslovakia, is in Escanaba this week inspecting the Birds-eye Veneer plant. She recently inherited a plant in her native land and is visiting veneer plants in America in order to get know-how information. She is determined to run the plant herself.

The duck hunting season was over in a hurry for Harry Young of Newberry. He took a pot shot at a flock of birds just rising up from the water and shot five of them. That was the day's limit.

William Barron, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barron, of Flat Rock is being treated in St. Francis Hospital. While attempting to pound a nail in a wall, the nail became dislodged and flew into his mouth, entering his bronchial tube. He is reported in serious condition.

Staebler Urges Student Loans

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill to expand the federal student loan program and tie repayment to the student's future income was proposed Thursday by Rep. Neil Staebler, D-Mich.

It would increase the present $90 million annual appropriation for student loans to $250 million and make the loans available to all qualified college students.

Staebler said his measure would remove the present $250,000 ceiling on the amount of money available to a college for student loans.

Under the Staebler bill, a student would be able to borrow $2,000 a year up to a total of $10,000 instead of $1,000 a year to a total of $5,000 under present law.

Repayment, starting a year after termination of studies, would be at the annual rate of one-half of one per cent of taxable income for each $1,000 borrowed.

On another subject, Staebler repeated he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination against Gov. George Romney, a Republican, in 1964 if former Gov. John B. Swainson does not run.

Romney defeated Swainson in his bid for a second term in the 1962 election.

"If he (Swainson) decides to run for the governorship, I will not," Staebler said. "If he decides not to run, then I will be a candidate for the nomination against Romney."

Big Holdings Nationalized By Cuban Regime

HAVANA (AP)—The Cuban government Thursday night ordered the nationalization of all private holdings over 133 acres.

But the government announced in a decree "special exception" would be made for landowners who have maintained exceptional production and "have shown complete desire to cooperate with the government in its production and supply plans."

The government said it plans to push to "a maximum agriculture to fulfill the needs of the population and raise the economic development of the country."

Prime Minister Fidel Castro repeatedly has been trying to squeeze more production out of poorly run farms. The regime in the last year alternately has exhorted farmers to become more efficient and threatened to force them into collective farms.

The government previously had taken over all holdings over 970 acres.

Revenue Grows

LANSING (AP)—A total of $166.1 million was taken into the state treasury in September and spending for the same period totaled $140.1 million, Treasurer Sanford Brown reports. Of the total income, $46.6 million was in general fund money, with the largest single item being $17.2 million from the sales tax.

Steam And Gas Eject Missile On Surface Ship

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A Polaris A-3 missile was fired Thursday from a surface ship in the second straight successful test of a new rocket launching system.

A combination of steam and gas ejected the missile from a launch tube in the deck of the USS Observation Island as the ship cruised about 15 miles offshore.

Igniting above deck, the Polaris streaked to a target area several hundred miles down range, the Navy said.

The steam-gas system, tested for the first time last week, replaces compressed air for Polaris firings. Navy officers say the new method is simpler and more reliable.

The success was the fourth in five shipboard launchings for the advanced A-3, which is being developed for a maximum 2,875 mile range.

Teachers Talk About Tenure

CHEBOYGAN (AP)—A proposal for statewide teacher tenure was discussed Thursday at the annual fall institute of the Michigan Education Association.

Some 2,000 teachers from 17 northern Lower Michigan counties are attending the institute, which concludes today.

E. Dale Kennedy, executive secretary of the MEA, told the opening session that a statewide petition drive would begin in the near future in an effort to force legislative action on tenure.

Secretary of State James Hare, in a statement released to newsmen, said the state "cannot be proud of its educational image until teachers in every school district have tenure."

"Tenure, with its professional security, attracts superior teachers to the profession," Hare said.

Barrow, Alaska, Homes Lost In 80-Mile Gale

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—A storm packing winds of better than 80 miles an hour wrecked homes and fuel supplies at Barrow, the most northern settlement in North America, Thursday. One man was reported injured and he was released after treatment.

State Sen. Eben Hopson told Gov. William A. Egan the loss would exceed $250,000. Others indicated it would run much higher.

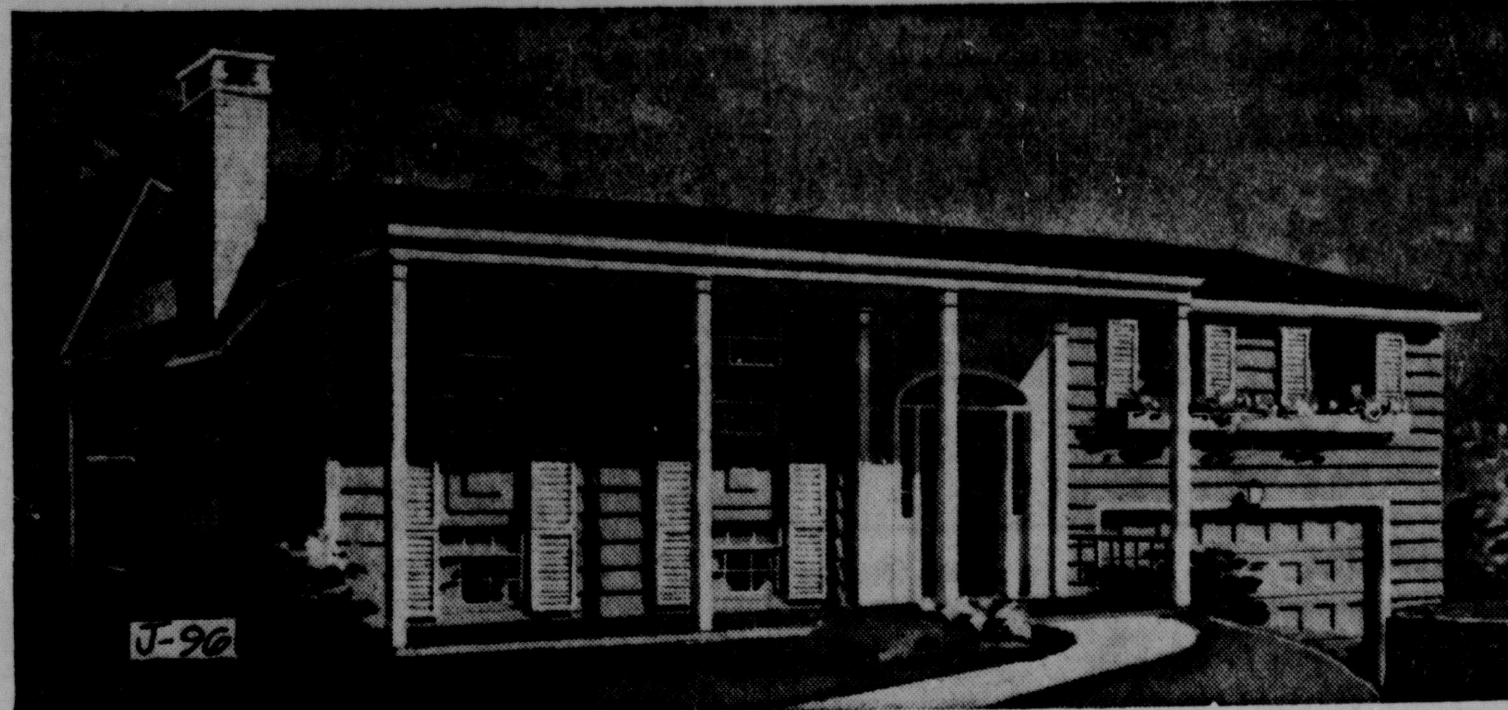

At least 20 homes were destroyed and a number of military and civilian aircraft were wrecked.

Many persons were evacuated to higher ground.

The Red Cross planned to fly relief supplies and personnel into Barrow today.

Clear and fairly mild weather was reported across most other parts of the nation.

Small Bi-Level Can Expand

Stately and economical: This handsome bi-level contains four bedrooms and two full baths, yet its basic area is only 1,279 square feet. The lower level holds 580 square feet of bonus living area which can be developed when needed. The architect is Rudolph A. Matern.

A small house that can grow right along with a family is the goal of many young couples. But finding one isn't easy—one that actually does grow, not one that just provides extra space for a future bedroom.

After all, adequate sleeping space solves only part of a family's housing problems. It's when everybody is awake and active that overcrowded conditions become really unbearable.

Today's House of the Week is a complete three bedroom home of less than 1,300 square feet. But, when family expansion demands and financial conditions permit, an entire floor can be developed, adding a fourth bedroom, second full bath, recreation room and other features. In other words, it holds in reserve for the future both the daytime and nighttime space an expanding family requires.

The house is a bi-level design whose traditional styling will remain in vogue for years to come. The architect is Rudolph A. Matern, and the house is design J-96 in the weekly series.

A bi-level is simply a one-story home which has been raised out of the ground so the basement becomes liveable too; and the front door dropped a half flight so it's at grade level. It's the basement area of this home which can be finished later, and most of the work can be done by a handy husband.

Meanwhile the area plainly is not surplus—it still serves as a basement, the laundry facilities are down there, and so is a full two-car garage, at least a $1,500 item if built in addition to the house.

The house is a simple rectangular plan in modest dimensions of 44'6" wide by 28'9" deep. A portico with four stately columns projects seven feet into the front and is 28'9" wide. The main level contains 1,279 square feet of living area not including the porch; the lower contains an additional 580 square feet not counting the garage storage room and heater room.

Prank Backfires On U. M. Painters At MSU Campus

EAST LANSING (AP)—A prank on Michigan State University backfired today on four University of Michigan students who found themselves scrubbing U of M's colors off MSU buildings.

Campus police stood by as the "volunteers" worked.

The four and three others are accused of painting the MSU campus blue and gold. "We've had painting before," said MSU safety Director Richard Bernitt, "but not in such quantity."

The four were stopped by campus officers in a car which contained paint spray cans and a stencil.

A gold "U of M" was painted several places on the campus and the letter "M" was painted in blue letters 15 to 24 inches high.

Moth Destroyed

LANSING (AP)—Michigan is well on its way to being completely free of infestations of the tree-destroying Gypsy Moth, says the Department of Agriculture. Officials said a total of 3,056 traps in five previously-infested counties in the central part of the state this year turned up no evidence of the pest.

Tourist Assn., Reelects Four Officers Friday

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Berle Slack, Grand Rapids manager for Michigan Bell Telephone Co., led the slate of officers reelected here Friday to their posts with the West Michigan Tourist Association.

He enters his third year as WMTA president.

Others returned to office for 1963-64 were First Vice President Robert Webster of Grand Rapids, Second Vice President Allan Williams of Ionia and Treasurer M. C. Gamble of Beulah.

Fritz Coppens of Traverse City replaced Fred Bocks of Cadillac in the only change on the WMTA executive committee.

Delegates to the 46th annual convention also voted a South Haven resort (Fidelman's) as the site of the 1964 meeting.

Top Michigan Democrats At Madison Rally

LANSING (AP)—The Democratic Party's two leading candidates for the 1964 nomination for governor lead a group of party officials to the Democratic Midwest Conference in Madison, Wis.

Former Gov. John Swainson and Rep. Neil Staebler, D-Mich., headed a group of seven Thursday, which also included State Chairman Zolton Percey, Vice Chairman Adelaide Hart and Democratic National Committeewoman Mildred Jeffrey.

Others are Dr. Lynn Bartlett, superintendent of public instruction, and Kathryn Nye, party secretary.

The Oct. 3-6 conference is a semi-annual affair in which party leaders from Midwest states discuss government affairs.

Swainson is slated to be on a panel today on finances in state government.

Mayors Study Refugee Load

WASHINGTON (AP)—A hearing by a Senate Judiciary subcommittee on refugees and escapees will be held Oct. 14 at Calvin College, Grand Rapids, Mich., Sen. Philip Hart, D-Mich., said Friday.

Hart, subcommittee chairman, said the hearing is the first to be held in various cities to study the resettlement program for Cuban refugees handled by the Welfare Department.

"Members of the local community do the actual resettlement work," said Hart. "They're the ones who carry the big load in the resettlement program."

The hearings, he said, will be the first opportunity by the subcommittee to hear from those who aided the program, including the refugees.

The list of witnesses for the Grand Rapids hearing includes four mayors, Stanley Davis of Grand Rapids, Nelson Bosman of Holland, Victor Yurick of Muskegon and Frank Hoogland of Zeeland.

Atlas F Blows Up In Flames

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—An Atlas F intercontinental ballistic missile—most advanced of the Atlas series—exploded in flames Thursday night seconds before its scheduled launch.

The blast lighted up an overcast sky for miles around.

There was no immediate statement from Air Force officials on the cause of the explosion. No injuries were reported.

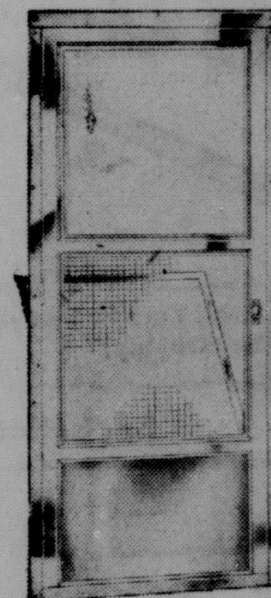

Witnesses said the 82½-foot-tall missile exploded just as the rocket booster ignited, about one minute after it was raised from its 174-foot-deep underground silo.

Staebler Urges Student Loans

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill to expand the federal student loan program and tie repayment to the student's future income was proposed Thursday by Rep. Neil Staebler, D-Mich.

It would increase the present $90 million annual appropriation for student loans to $250 million and make the loans available to all qualified college students.

Staebler said his measure would remove the present $250,000 ceiling on the amount of money available to a college for student loans.

Under the Staebler bill, a student would be able to borrow $2,000 a year up to a total of $10,000 instead of $1,000 a year to a total of $5,000 under present law.

Repayment, starting a year after termination of studies, would be at the annual rate of one-half of one per cent of taxable income for each $1,000 borrowed.

On another subject, Staebler repeated he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination against Gov. George Romney, a Republican, in 1964 if former Gov. John B. Swainson does not run.

Romney defeated Swainson in his bid for a second term in the 1962 election.

"If he (Swainson) decides to run for the governorship, I will not," Staebler said. "If he decides not to run, then I will be a candidate for the nomination against Romney."

Big Holdings Nationalized By Cuban Regime

HAVANA (AP) — The Cuban government Thursday night ordered the nationalization of all private holdings over 100 acres.

But the government announced in a decree "special exception" would be made for landowners who have maintained exceptional production and "have shown complete desire to cooperate with the government in its production and supply plans."

The government said it plans to push to "a maximum agriculture to fulfill the needs of the population and raise the economic development of the country."

Prime Minister Fidel Castro repeatedly has been trying to squeeze more production out of poorly run farms. The regime in the last year alternately has exorted farmers to become more efficient and threatened to force them into collective farms.

The government previously had taken over all holdings over 970 acres.

Revenue Grows

LANSING (AP) — A total of $166.1 million was taken into the state treasury in September and spending for the same period totaled $146.1 million, Treasurer Sanford Brown reports. Of the total income, $46.6 million was in general fund money, with the largest single item being $17.2 million from the sales tax.

Steam And Gas Eject Missile On Surface Ship

house is the second set of stairs in the rear, greatly simplifying movement between the two levels. Moreover, the rear stair railing is built as a dramatic balcony for the breakfast table.

The front stair also shows creative use of wrought iron. An iron grill, not a railing, provides privacy as well as a decorative touch to the living room. A mirrored planter and vanity niche is another eye-catcher at the entry foyer.

The living room is a spacious 18' by 15', but the rear portion of it actually has the effect of being 22' wide considering the area in front of the guest closet and planter. A log burning fireplace complements the iron grill on the opposite wall, and the formal dining room adjoins in a connecting ell.

One of the finest features of the home is the kitchen, interestingly arranged and efficient at the same time. Double windows are above the double sink, offering excellent supervision of the backyard. The rear service entry is down a half flight of stairs, equally accessible to both levels.

When the lower level is completed it will produce more than 230 square feet of recreation area as well as a well-ordered laundry, bathroom and corner bedroom. This doesn't mean there will be no room left for storage—architect Matern has provided more than 500 cubic feet of storage space at the rear of the garage, not to mention the extra space, in the heater room.

Just as bulk storage space is not lacking, neither is closet space. On the main level alone there are nine closets containing a total of 368 cubic feet; and on the lower level there are large closets in both the bedroom and bathroom, and plenty of shelf or cabinet space in the 60-square-foot laundry.

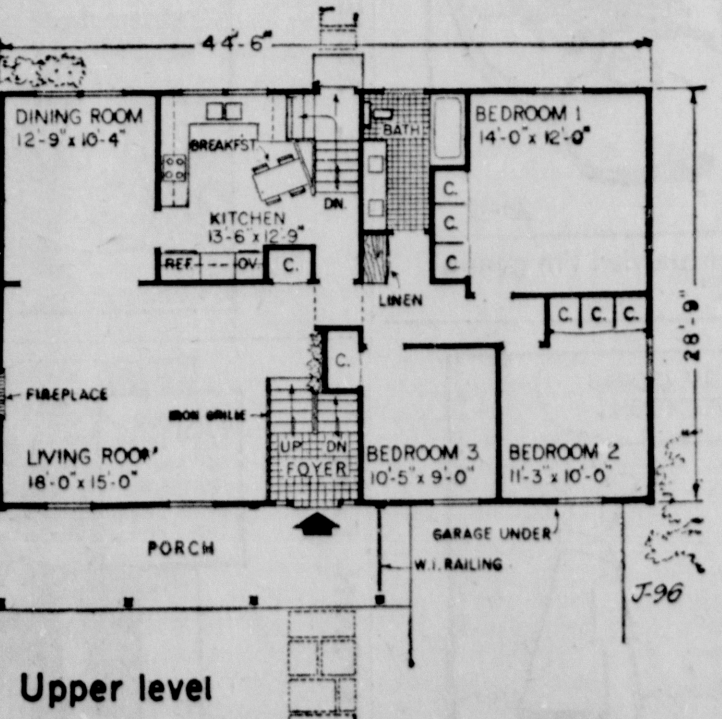

As a further economy measure, the bathrooms of both levels are on the same plumbing stack. The main bath, with its double-sink vanity and recessed tub, is accessible both from the living and sleeping areas. The lower bath is convenient not only to the downstairs rooms but also the backyard and garage.

Dramatic and convenient: A second set of stairs in the rear of the house not only simplifies movement between levels but provides an interesting balcony for the breakfast table. In the kitchen, double windows over the double bowl sink afford excellent backyard supervision.

Ann Landers

Is High-Low Girl Mentally Ill?

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 14-year-old girl, and a little nutty. If you can explain why I am like I am, I'll be grateful forever.

I'm going steady with the best-looking kid in the school. Freddie has everything a girl could possibly want. He's smart, handsome, popular and he has flipped over me. But the problem is my crazy feelings.

Sometimes when we are together I am bored and wish he would go home. After he leaves I miss him like crazy and I wish he'd come back.

Last week we were at a flea hop (that's a dance) and there were two fellows there that looked good to me. I kept wishing I wasn't going steady with Freddie. When I saw Freddie dancing with another girl, and holding her close, I almost jumped out of my skin.

Why am I hot and cold, low and high? Do you think I'm mentally ill? — BRENDA

Dear Brenda: The high-low, hot-cold routine means you have not yet matured emotionally.

At 14 you should not be going steady with anyone — no matter how dreamy. It's unwise and unhealthy for a girl your age to have a heavy emotional investment in any one fellow.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I bought a home near the high school because we have three children of high school age and I was sick and tired of driving kids back and forth. Unfortunately, the house has two extra bedrooms.

Now it seems my husband's sister wishes to unload her high school girl on us because they live on the other side of town and the bus line does not run within seven blocks of them. In addition to this, my own brother wants us to keep his two sons (weekdays only, he said) because we live near school and his wife must have an operation which will put her off her feet for three months.

Bluntly speaking, my own three teenagers are more than I can handle and I don't want the responsibility of three more. My husband says it's up to me. My mother warns if I refuse I'll be branded by the family as selfish and mean. Help, please. — ON THE SPOT

Dear Spot: Rooming and boarding high school children is an enormous responsibility, not to mention the additional work.

If you do not want to do it, be as blunt with them as you were with me and say no. This makes more sense than knocking under for fear of what the relatives will say or think.

Dear Ann Landers: I just read the letter in your column today from the mother in a T. B. hospital. Since I have lived through the experience I wanted to let her know how my case turned out.

My boys were 7 and 9 years of age. My husband had his own trucking business and was away from home a great deal. When the doctor told me I would have to be hospitalized for several months I didn't see how we could manage. We could only obtain part-time help and most of that proved inefficient. However, it is amazing how self-sufficient children can be when put to the test.

I returned home well and happy after 10 months. Three years later we had a baby girl. I rejoice that I stayed away from my family that 10 months and did not risk infecting them. Incidentally, the boys learned to do a great many things for themselves and will be better husbands because of it. — MRS. O. A. P.

Dear Mrs. P.: Many thanks for your fine letter. I appreciate your taking the time to share your experience with us.

To learn the booby-traps of teenage drinking, write for ANN LANDERS' booklet "Teenage Drinking," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I bought a home near the high school because we have three children of high school age and I was sick and tired of driving kids back and forth. Unfortunately, the house has two extra bedrooms.

Now it seems my husband's sister wishes to unload her high school girl on us because they live on the other side of town and the bus line does not run within seven blocks of them. In addition to this, my own brother wants us to keep his two sons (weekdays only, he said) because we live near school and his wife must have an operation which will put her off her feet for three months.

Bluntly speaking, my own three teenagers are more than I can handle and I don't want the responsibility of three more. My husband says it's up to me. My mother warns if I refuse I'll be branded by the family as selfish and mean. Help, please. — ON THE SPOT

Dear Spot: Rooming and boarding high school children is an enormous responsibility, not to mention the additional work. If you do not want to do it, be as blunt with them as you were with me and say no. This makes more sense than knocking under for fear of what the relatives will say or think.

Dear Ann Landers: I just read the letter in your column today from the mother in a T. B. hospital. Since I have lived through the experience I wanted to let her know how my case turned out.

My boys were 7 and 9 years of age. My husband had his own trucking business and was away from home a great deal. When the doctor told me I would have to be hospitalized for several months I didn't see how we could manage. We could only obtain part-time help and most of that proved inefficient. However, it is amazing how self-sufficient children can be when put to the test.

I returned home well and happy after 10 months. Three years later we had a baby girl. I rejoice that I stayed away from my family that 10 months and did not risk infecting them. Incidentally, the boys learned to do a great many things for themselves and will be better husbands because of it. — MRS. O. A. P.

Dear Mrs. P.: Many thanks for your fine letter. I appreciate your taking the time to share your experience with us.

To learn the booby-traps of teenage drinking, write for ANN LANDERS' booklet "Teenage Drinking," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Sent To Ionia

DETROIT (AP) — A 45-year-old retired Detroit detective was ordered committed Thursday to Ionia State Hospital for the Criminally Insane in the slaying of his wife last April 20. Riney Paul, who had a previous record of mental disturbances, was ordered committed by Recorder's Judge Arthur Koscinski after a sanity commission testified he was psychotic and unable to understand the charge against him.

Mrs. Frank A. Kasper (Ridings Photo)

Barbara Anne Pach Frank Kasper's Bride

St. Patrick's Church was the setting at 10 a.m. today for the wedding of Barbara Anne Pach and Frank A. Kasper. The Rev. Valerian Pach, of St. Bonaventure Minor Seminary, Sturdevant, Wis., an uncle of the bride, was the celebrant of the Solemn High Mass before an altar decorated with fall shades of mums.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pach of 514 S. 18th St. Mr. Kasper is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kasper of Hurley, Wis. Mrs. Donald LeMire, who was organist, sang "Ave Maria" at the Offertory and "Mother, at Your Feet Is Kneeling," as the bride placed a bouquet of white mums on the altar of the Blessed Virgin.

Angela Kulik was maid of honor, Mary Carlson of Gladstone was bridesmaid and Kathlene Kulaviak of Cicero, Ill., junior bridesmaid. The bridesmaids are both cousins of the bride. Louis Pach, a brother, served as best man, and Larry Bero was groomsmen. Ushers were Frank Karl and Vincent Kasper.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of lustrous slipper satin, featuring a bateau neckline and long tapered sleeves. Sequin and pearl encrusted Alencon lace adorned the left shoulder and waistline and extended down into the semi-full skirt. The full chapel train, topped by a fan shaped bow also had lace trim. Her fingertip veil of French silk illusion was caught to a two tiered crown of lace and pearls. She carried a cascading bouquet of white mums, centered with a white orchid.

Her honor maid's floor length dress in gold peau featured a scoop neckline, elbow length sleeves, velvet cummerbund and bell skirt. The back detail was a detachable floor length velvet trimmed panel. The bridesmaid and junior bridesmaid were in willow green dresses of identical style and fabric. Their headpieces were matching velvet bow with silk illusion veiling. They carried cascading bouquets of fall shades of mums.

Lynn Andzejewski, cousin of the bride, wore a natural color nylon chiffon dress with willow green embroidery for her role as flower girl. Her headpiece was a velvet bow with veiling and she carried a basket of fall mums. Gary Pach, the bride's brother, was ring bearer.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Pach chose a forest green knit dress styled with a jewel neckline and three-quarter length sleeves, topped with a matching sleeveless three-quarter length mohair coat. Black patent accessories completed her ensemble. Her corsage was fall shades of mums.

Immediately following the ceremony a breakfast was served the bridal party and immediate family members at the V.F.W. Hall. The newlyweds will greet guests at a reception from 4 to 8 p.m. at Marco's Starlite Room. A dance will follow the reception. Carole Bartosz will be in charge of gifts, Betty Bartosz will serve punch and Mrs. Melton McGovern will serve the wedding cake.

After a honeymoon trip to Miami, the newlyweds will reside in Cicero. For going-away the bride will wear a two piece beige knit with suede detail and scarf neckline, laden green accessories and a corsage of mums.

This group meets every Wednesday at the home of one of the members. Some are former students of Adult Education arts classes.

The recent display consisted of pictures painted during the past four years. The work was under no personal direction. Each member was strictly on her own.

The women who make up the membership of the club make no claim to being artists, although those familiar with their work think differently. They love to draw and paint solely for their own pleasure.

At the end of each meeting pictures are set up for general discussion and criticism, whether the subject has been completed or not.

"This practice of frank criticism has brought good results," a club member observed. "We value one another's opinions. Therefore no one's feelings are hurt."

The exhibit at the Anderson home included two oil paintings by Mrs. Marjorie Anthony Welch, a former member of the club.

Dodger Fans Talk Of Series Sweep

By JOE REICHLER
LOS ANGELES (AP)—The giddy townspeople here no longer were talking merely of a World Series victory over the New York Yankees today. Instead they were boldly predicting a four-game sweep over the proud and perennial American League champions.

A Dodger sweep, a fantastic dream a couple of days ago, was within the realm of realism as the combatants went into their third game, first on Dodger soil, with the National League's holding a 2-0 lead in games.

Less than a week ago a better could get odds ranging from 20 to 25 to 1 if he were gambler enough to take the Dodgers in four straight. The odds now are 5 to 1 for a sweep, 3 to 1 that they'll win the series.

Should Don Drysdale pitch the Dodgers to a triumph over young Jim Bouton in today's third game, they will be a strong favorite to sweep, inasmuch as Sandy Koufax, their ace, is a certainty to pitch the fourth game Sunday.

Despite the Dodgers' envious position, Walter Alston, the ever-conservative Los Angeles manager, refused to utter any statement that might hint of optimism.

"It's a nice feeling to win the first two games," he declared in what could be the understatement of the year. "But this Yankee club can't be trusted."

Alston named the right-handed Drysdale and the left-handed Koufax as today's and Sunday's pitchers.

The Drysdale-Bouton match was the first duel between two right-handers in this series. It marked the third World Series appearance for Drysdale, who pitched briefly against the Yankees in the third game of the 1956 classic and defeated the Chicago White Sox in the third game in 1959.

Bouton, who replaced Ralph Terry as the Yankees' No. 2 pitcher behind Ford, was making his

Powerful Blue Devils Defeat Escanaba 14-0

SAULT STE MARIE — Escanaba's dreams of an undefeated season and a fourth straight Great Lakes Conference championship turned into a nightmare here Friday night as the Eskymos bowed 14-0 to the Soo Blue Devils.

A big, powerful Soo team snapped Escanaba's five game victory string and moved into sole possession of first place in the Great Lakes race. The triumph was Soo's sixth straight this season.

The Blue Devils not only defeated the Eskymos, they handed them a physical licking. "Our boys took a beating on the field and we're a mass of bumps and bruises," Coach Jerry Cvenegros stated after the game.

Scoreless Halves
The Eskymos held their own in a scoreless first half struggle, outgaining the Blue Devils 85 yards to 75. Soo's superior manpower was on display in the second half, however.

Halfback Andy Benson slammed over for both the Soo touchdowns in the second half and big Dennis Porter booted both the conversions.

Soo Intercepts
On the following play, Soo's Tom Payment intercepted a Mike Gafner pass and ran it back 30 yards to the Escanaba 38.

The Eskymos held and took over on downs but were forced to punt three plays later.

Cuban Puncher Scores Kayo

BOSTON (AP)—Jarring Florentino Fernandez owns a fifth straight knockout in his comeback as a middleweight contender but he had to share the television spotlight with a spectacular brawl.

Fernandez floored Joe DeNucci of Newton, Mass., with his feared left hand at 2:30 of the fourth round Friday night at Boston Arena.

Referee Jimmy McCarron had reached the count of six when several Cubans climbed into the ring waving flags and a banner, quickly followed by a wave of pursuers.

Fists flew, a knife was drawn, a man tumbled over the press row and for a short while the turmoil which started in the ring spread into the aisles.

When order was restored, DeNucci was still a victim of his first knockout—and knockout—in 44 pro fights. Fernandez, whose 159½ weight was 5½ pounds less than DeNucci's, had his 30th knockout.

"I knew from the start it was only a matter of time," the mustachioed Cuban referee said after the fight. DeNucci agreed with the analysis.

Late Southern Cal Rally Catches Michigan State

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer
If the Yankees regain their zest and punch today and whip the Dodgers in the World Series, Los Angeles fans can point to their own Southern California Trojans for setting a bright example.

The defending national college football champions and Rose Bowl winners were trailing a young, unheralded Michigan State team 10-0 in the last quarter in Los Angeles Friday night and seemed headed for their second straight defeat.

Then, as the Yankees used to do with home-run blasts, the Trojans struck for two touchdowns within six minutes and blitzed the Spartans, 13-10. The Pete Beathard-Hal Bedsole passing-catching combination clicked on a 16-yard touchdown pass in the end zone for the winner.

Southern California's stirring comeback victory topped the Friday night program. In other major games, the Miami Hurricanes tumbled winless, scoreless Tulane 10-0; Boston College whipped Detroit 20-12; and The Citadel rallied for a 27-22 triumph over George Washington.

Southern California, 14-0 conquerors of Colorado and 17-12 losers to Oklahoma, never got beyond Michigan State's 43-yard mark and trailed 10-0 heading into the final quarter. A 38-yard field goal in the first period by Lou Bobich and a sensational 88-yard touchdown dash by halfback Sherman Lewis on a screen pass from sophomore quarterback Steve Juday in the third period had the Spartans drooping in anticipation of the upset.

But on the first play of the final quarter soph halfback Mike Garrett ripped through the middle of the Spartan line for a 52-yard touchdown run. Beathard and Bedsole then electrified the crowd of 59,137 in Memorial Coliseum by scoring on a fourth down and eight to go situation. The Spartans chased Beathard close to the sidelines, but the Trojan quarterback located his 6-foot-5 receiver in a corner of the end zone, and Bedsole made a jumping catch, his first after dropping several previous throws.

Boosters of independent Pitt were ready to stake a claim for the Big Six Conference title if the Panthers whip California today.

Oklahoma, the No. 1 team on its victory over Southern Cal the week before, and fourth-ranked Wisconsin are idle, but the rest of the elite Top Ten will be in there pitching. Two of them, second-ranked Alabama, and third-ranked Texas, should have easy going in night games. The Crimson Tide plays at Vanderbilt, and Texas entertains Oklahoma State.

Benson then broke it open with a 59 yard touchdown sprint that started off right tackle. Porter booted the point to make it 14-0.

The Eskymos got a chance to cut the margin when Dave Boileau broke through to block a Porter punt on the Soo 41. But the Blue Devils snared another wayward pass and were never in danger again.

Benson Top Runner
With Benson rambling for 142 yards in 22 trips, Soo out-gained Escanaba on the ground, 214 to 83. Escanaba hit on four of 18 passes for 29 yards, failing to click on some early bombs that could have changed the complexion of the game. Soo threw only five passes and completed one for two yards. The Blue Devils intercepted three Esky aeries.

Standouts for Escanaba were Dale Horchner, Steve Johnson, Pete Benson and Dave Boileau. The Eskymos will return to action in a non-conference game at Iron Mountain Saturday.

Eagles Upset Munising '11'

STEPHENSON — Coach Axel Anderson's fired-up Stephenson Eagles pulled the rug out from under the Munising Mustangs in a Great Lakes Conference game here Friday night.

Stephenson upset the Mustangs 27-19. The Eagles had won only one previous start this season while Munising had bowed only to undefeated Sault Ste. Marie in five previous games.

Parents of the Stephenson players were honored in pre-game ceremonies.

Former Cage Star Dies

YONKERS, N. Y. (AP)—Former basketball star Bob McDermott died Friday as the result of injuries suffered in a traffic accident two weeks ago. He was 48.

The 5-foot-10 ace started with the New York Celtics, went to the Fort Wayne Pistons of the American Basketball League in 1940, and later played with Moline, Ill., and Denver.

McDermott was injured Sept. 23 at Yonkers Raceway where he was employed as a security officer.

Jim Brown Runs Against Rugged Steeler Combo

By The Associated Press
It has been said around the National Football League that there's no defense that can stop Cleveland's Jimmy Brown. Even if that's true, Jimmy may not be able to crack the Pittsburgh Steelers' line often enough tonight to outdo a strong combination of Pittsburgh runners—John Henry Johnson, Dick Hoak, Bob Ferguson, etc.

Tonight's game at Cleveland Stadium is one of three on tap for pro football fans and the only one in the National League. Sunday there are six NFL games scheduled and two in the AFL—one a replay of last season's overtime championship game.

In the AFL, the New York Jets, hoping that two victories at home and first place in the Eastern Division will perk up their attendance at the Polo Grounds, again take on the Boston Patriots.

The other AFL game tonight sends the rebuilding Oakland Raiders, who have a 2-2 record, against the Bills at Buffalo. With Cookie Gilchrist below par and Jack Kemp unsteady at quarterback, Buffalo has lost three and tied one.

The Chicago Bears, heading the NFL's Western conference with three straight victories, play their first home game of the season Sunday against the Baltimore Colts, who have receivers Jimmy Orr and Ray Berry out of action. The Bears, in good condition, are expected to win handily.

Also strongly favored are the champion Green Bay Packers over the Los Angeles Rams, despite the doubtful condition of fullback Jim Taylor, and the Detroit Lions over the San Francisco 49ers, who have a new coach, Jack Christiansen, and a couple of undisciplined quarterbacks. The New York Giants, with Y.A. Tittle in form, are expected to trim the Washington Redskins, who may be without their best defensive man, Johnny Sample.

The Minneapolis Vikings are given a home-field edge over the St. Louis Cardinals. Each has a 2-1 record and a chance to move up in the divisional standings. The Philadelphia Eagles, riddled by Tittle's passes last Sunday, are rated even with the Dallas Cowboys, who have lost three straight.

It's homecoming at Kansas City for the Chiefs, who played in Dallas last year and on the road so far this season. They play the Houston Oilers, the team they beat in six quarters of an overtime playoff last fall. Kansas City after a rather dismal performance against San Diego last Sunday, comes in with a 1-1 record as compared to the Oilers' 2-2.

Sunday's other AFL game sends the San Diego Chargers, only unbeaten team in the league, to Denver. The Chargers are heavily favored.

Linjala Is Star In Rock Victory

ROCK — Coach Roman Gill's Rock Little Giants celebrated homecoming here Friday afternoon with a 28-21 Wolverine Conference victory over Bark River-Harris.

The Little Giants snapped out of a 14-14 deadlock with a pair of third quarter touchdowns to clinch their second straight triumph after two opening setbacks.

Ed Linjala starred for Rock, passing to Robert Maki for one touchdown and running for two more. Mike Kulack punched over the other Rock TD.

Bill Kwarciarny scored twice and Gregg Sagataw once for Coach Carlton Roel's Broncos. Rock drove the opening kickoff home with Kulack going over on a keeper from two yards out. Linjala flipped to Maki for the point, 7-0.

The Broncos drove 655 yards in the second period with Bill Hall hitting Kwarciarny with a fourth down payoff pass. Kwarciarny ran the point to tie it 7-7.

Rock went ahead 14-7 shortly before the half as Linjala tossed nine yards to Maki for the TD and ran for the point.

Bark River charged back to tie it 14-14 as Kwarciarny scored from the eight and ran the point.

Linjala tallied two quick touchdowns for Rock, racing in from the five yard line and running the point to make it 21-14. Maki recovered a Bronco fumble and Linjala ripped off 16 yards with Kulack pounding over the extra point to boost the lead to 28-14.

Late in the fourth, Bark River's Tony Cavades fumbled off tackle and Greg Sagataw recovered in the end zone for a touchdown. Kwarciarny piled over for the point to make it 28-21.

Rock had 68 yards rushing and completed six of 10 passes for 103 yards. The Little Giants had six first downs and recovered three Bark River fumbles. Linemen Bill Johnson and Mike Ruotsala were outstanding.

Bark River picked up 113 yards rushing and hit on seven of 18 passes for 102 yards and seven first downs. The Broncos recovered one Rock fumble.

Two Are Tied For Golf Lead

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Rocky Phil Rodgers and the quietly confident Al Balding shared a one stroke lead as they started the third round of the $125,000 White-mare Open Golf Tournament today, but both glanced nervously over their shoulders at the menacing shadow of dangerous Arnold Palmer.

Rodgers and Balding each shot sub-par golf Friday against a strong cold wind, wrestling the lead in the four-day, 72-hole play from studious looking Mason Rudolph, the first round leader who finished 36 holes tied with Tommy Jacobs, one stroke behind the top pair. Rudolph had a par 72.

Rodgers, the pudgy ex-Marine fired a two under par 70 in between his constant wise cracking with the gallery, while Balding, one of the late finishers, scrambled to a 68. The two deadlocked for the top spot at 138. Neither, however, was counting the $26,000 first prize yet, not with the famous last ditch Palmer only three strokes away.

Palmer, who lost a stroke when he imposed a penalty on himself for moving a ball before a chip shot, carded a 71, which with his first round 70 gave him 141, the same as the veteran Gene Littler, a model of consistency on this 6,807 tight, well fitted, well trapped course in suburban Philadelphia. Littler carried rounds of 69-72 into the third day's play.

Making the cutoff but each 10 strokes off the pace were PGA and Masters champion Jack Nicklaus and U. S. Open king Julius Boros.

Veterans Want New Bonus Rule

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Veteran baseball players who believe they are being nudged off the payroll by the new bonus rule have called on management to come to their aid.

Under the new rule, if a big league club wants to protect from the draft a youngster to whom it may have paid $100,000 or so it must carry him on its 25-man roster. Sometimes he sits on the bench and sometimes he is sent to the minors and the big league plays with only 24 men. In a few instances, one club has protected two bonus babies this way.

The veterans believe this rule can cut short their careers by one to three years since the men dropped to make way for the youngsters are always the older players. Loss of playing years cuts into the rich baseball pension payments for the veterans.

"We have requested some type of immediate consideration to modify the bonus rules and protect the deserving veterans," said Robert Cannon of Milwaukee, the legal advisor of the baseball players.

National League Aids Tailenders

LOS ANGELES (AP)—National League club owners took a positive step to help the tailend New York Mets and Houston Colts Friday by making available a list of 32 players at $30,000 each.

Each of the eight other clubs would make a list of four players who were on the roster as of Aug. 31. The selling team is obligated to give up only one of these men at the $30,000 price tag but may negotiate for the sale of all of them if it wishes.

Warren Giles, president of the National League, said the lists must be presented by noon of the day following the last World Series game. He said he already had several of the lists and expected the others within a day or so.

When the selection meeting is held, probably in Cincinnati, the Mets will have first pick. George Weiss, president of the New York team, won the toss from Paul Richards, general manager of the Colts.

At the original player selection in October, 1961, when each club stocked its roster, the Houston club had first pick. At that time

British Golf Team Is Here

ATLANTA (AP)—The British Ryder Cup team was due here today to begin preparations for next week's Ryder Cup golf competition at East Lake Country Club.

Never in the history of the biennial matches have the British been able to defeat the Americans on a U. S. course, but the Britons are loaded with talent and confidence this year and are expected to offer a strong challenge.

Members of the team are Peter Alliss, Neil Coles, Tom Haliburton, Brian Huggett, Bernard Hunt, Geoffrey Hunt, Christy O'Connor, Dave Thomas, Harry Weetman and George Will.

Competition begins with four-some matches next Friday. Four-ball matches will be held Saturday and singles competitions will conclude play Sunday.

All of the matches will be 18 holes. Two rounds are scheduled each day with rival captains—Arnold Palmer of the U. S. and John Fallon—deciding the pairings.

Powerful Blue Devils Defeat Escanaba 14-0

SAULT STE MARIE — Escanaba's dreams of an undefeated season and a fourth straight Great Lakes Conference championship turned into a nightmare here Friday night as the Eskymos bowed 14-0 to the Soo Blue Devils.

A big, powerful Soo team snapped Escanaba's five game victory string and moved into sole possession of first place in the Great Lakes race. The triumph was Soo's sixth straight this season.

The Blue Devils not only defeated the Eskymos, they handed them a physical licking. "Our boys took a beating on the field and we're a mass of bumps and bruises," Coach Jerry Cvenegros stated after the game.

Scoreless Halts
The Eskymos held their own in a scoreless first half struggle, outgaining the Blue Devils 85 yards to 75. Soo's superior manpower was on display in the second half, however.

Halfback Andy Benson slammed over for both the Soo touchdowns in the second half and big Dennis Porter booted both the conversions.

The Blue Devils, sticking exclusively to the ground, drove 64 yards following the second half kickoff. Benson and fullback Don Kucharzyk saw heavy duty in the march and the Eskymos helped with a pair of offside miscues at key points.

Stubborn Defense
Soo belted to a first down on the Eskymo five yard line and then ran into a stubborn defense headed by big Steve Johnson. It took four downs to shove it over with Kucharzyk and Benson bolting into the middle of the line. Benson hit paydirt on all four from inside the one yard line and Porter's kick made it 7-0.

The Eskymos came alive with their best drive following the kickoff. Jim Clairmont, Terry Dufour, Chuck Brookes and Jerry Hanson took turns lugging the leather to midfield where disaster struck the Eskymo hopes. Hanson, starting junior quarterback, was shaken up on a play on which he fumbled on the Escanaba 43. He was taken out of action and did not get back in the game.

Soo Intercepts
On the following play, Soo's Tom Payment intercepted a Mike Gafner pass and ran it back 30 yards to the Escanaba 38.

The Eskymos held and took over on downs but were forced to punt three plays later.

Defending Champ Ann Arbor Bows In Grid Upset

By The Associated Press

Only two of the top-ranked Class A high school football teams suffered defeats Friday night, but one of them was defending champion Ann Arbor.

Lansing Sexton spotted Ann Arbor an early first period touchdown, then came back to score a lopsided 34-13 triumph before over 6,500 fans at Lansing.

Pontiac Northern, which had been tied for the last position in Class A, was knocked off by Berkeley, 21-13.

Bad Axe and East Grand Rapids, tied for first place in Class B, each scored victories. Bad Axe trounced Marlette, 46-12, as Dick DeChane scored three times, while East Grand Rapids eked out a 6-0 victory over Grand Rapids Godwin.

The lofty position held by East Grand Rapids will not last, however. The school has increased its enrollment past the 900 mark and officially became a Class A school last week. Several other schools around the state have also changed classes.

Kalamazoo St. Augustine, the top-rated Class C-D team, clobbered Cassopolis, 44-14.

In the Ann Arbor-Lansing Sexton clash, Ann Arbor scored the first time it got the ball, with Gerry Hartman passing to Ken Dyer.

Sexton then turned two Ann Arbor fumbles into touchdowns, with Ron Jean going over from the two late in the first period and John Holmes passing to Jean for the second to give Sexton a 13-7 halftime lead.

Holms, Bill Roth and Charley Davis scored for the winners in the second half, the last touchdown for Sexton coming when Davis returned an intercepted pass 51 yards.

The loss broke Ann Arbor winning streak at 12 games and extended Sexton's streak to six. It marked the first time either team had yielded a point this season.

In other Class A headlines, second ranked Bay City Central drubbed Alpena, 25-7, and third-ranked Flint Central blasted Pontiac Central 47-0 as quarterback Tiny Laster threw four touchdown passes, giving him 11 in four games.

West Bloomfield, No. 2 in Class B this week, was surprised by Milford, 27-13, while fifth-ranked Clawson bowed to Warren Fitzgerald, 27-13.

Third-ranked River Rouge, meanwhile, added to its unbeaten record by edging Hamtramck 13-6. It was Hamtramck's first loss in 16 Twin Valley league games.

St. Joseph Catholic, ranked second in C-D, rolled over Eau Claire, 50-13, and third-ranked St. Charles made it 23 straight by blanking Michigan Lutheran Seminary, 20-0.

Colon, fifth-ranked among the state's smaller schools this week, lost to Constantine, 38-20.

In an Upper Peninsula feature, Sault Ste. Marie defeated Escanaba, 14-0.

Late Southern Cal Rally Catches Michigan State

By MURRAY ROSE

Associated Press Sports Writer
If the Yankees regain their zest and punch today and whip the Dodgers in the World Series, Los Angeles fans can point to their own Southern California Trojans for setting a bright example.

The defending national college football champions and Rose Bowl winners were trailing a young, unheralded Michigan State team 10-0 in the last quarter in Los Angeles Friday night and seemed headed for their second straight defeat.

Then, as the Yankees used to do with home-run blasts, the Trojans struck for two touchdowns within six minutes and blitzed the Spartans, 13-10. The Pete Beathard-Hal Bedsole passing-catching combination clicked on a 16-yard touchdown pass in the end zone for the winner.

Southern California's stirring comeback victory topped the Friday night program. In other major games, the Miami Hurricanes tumbled winless, scoreless Tulane 10-0; Boston College whipped Detroit 20-12, and The Citadel rallied for a 27-22 triumph over Georgia

Washington. Southern California, 14-0 conquerors of Colorado and 17-12 losers to Oklahoma, never got beyond Michigan State's 43-yard mark and trailed 10-0 heading into the final quarter. A 38-yard field goal in the first period by Lou Bobich and a sensational 88-yard touchdown dash by halfback Sherman Lewis on a screen pass from soph quarterback Steve Juvada in the third period had the Spartans grooping in anticipation of the upset.

But on the first play of the final quarter soph halfback Mike Garrett ripped through the middle of the Spartan line for a 52-yard touchdown run. Beathard and Bedsole then electrified the crowd of 59,137 in Memorial Coliseum by scoring on a fourth down and eight to go situation. The Spartans chased Beathard close to the sidelines, but the Trojan quarterback located his 6-foot-5 receiver in a corner of the end zone, and Bedsole made a jumping catch, his first after dropping several previous throws.

Boosters of independent Pitt were ready to stake a claim for the Big Six Conference title if the Panthers whip California today.

Oklahoma, the No. 1 team in its victory over Southern Cal the week before, and fourth-ranked Wisconsin are idle, but the rest of the elite Top Ten will be in there pitching. Two of them, second-ranked Alabama, and third-ranked Texas, should have easy going in night games. The Crimson Tide plays at Vanderbilt, and Texas entertains Oklahoma State.

Northwestern, the No. 5 team paced by passing whiz Tom Myers, has a stiff Big Ten match at Champaign, Ill., against rising Illinois. Navy, the No. 6 team which has looked very impressive in two wins under the leadership of Roger Staubach, steps into the rugged Big Ten arena for a road game against Michigan, 27-16 conquerors of Southern Methodist.

In the national television game of the week, Duke's Atlantic Coast Conference champions who are unbeaten in two games, oppose Maryland's two-time losers in the Tobacco Bowl contest at Richmond, Va. CBS-TV will telecast it starting at 12:45 p.m., EST.

Benson then broke it open with a 59 yard touchdown sprint that started off right tackle. Porter booted the point to make it 14-0.

The Eskymos got a chance to cut the margin when Dave Boileau broke through to block a Porter punt on the Soo 41. But the Blue Devils snared another wayward pass and were never in danger again.

Benson Top Runner
With Benson rambling for 142 yards in 22 trips, Soo out-gained Escanaba on the ground, 214 to 83. Escanaba hit on four of 18 passes for 29 yards, failing to click on some early bombs that could have changed the complexion of the game. Soo threw only five passes and completed one for two yards. The Blue Devils intercepted three Esky aeries.

Standouts for Escanaba were Dale Horchner, Steve Johnson, Pete Benson and Dave Boileau. The Eskymos will return to action in a non-conference game at Iron Mountain Saturday.

Eagles Upset Munising '11'

STEPHENSON — Coach Axel Anderson's fired-up Stephenson Eagles pulled the rug out from under the Munising Mustangs in a Great Lakes Conference game here Friday night.

Stephenson upset the Mustangs 27-19. The Eagles had won only one previous start this season while Munising had bowed only to undefeated Sault Ste. Marie in five previous games.

Parents of the Stephenson players were honored in pre-game ceremonies.

Former Cage Star Dies

YONKERS, N. Y. (AP)—Former basketball star Bob McDermott died Friday as the result of injuries suffered in a traffic accident two weeks ago. He was 48.

The 5-foot-10 ace started with the New York Celtics, went to the Fort Wayne Pistons of the American Basketball League in 1940, and later played with Moline, Ill., and Denver.

McDermott was injured Sept. 23 at Yonkers Raceway where he was employed as a security officer.

Jim Brown Runs Against Rugged Steeler Combo

By The Associated Press

It has been said around the National Football League that there's no defense that can stop Cleveland's Jimmy Brown. Even if that's true, Jimmy may not be able to crack the Pittsburgh Steelers' line often enough tonight to outdo a strong combination of Pittsburgh runners—John Henry Johnson, Dick Hoak, Bob Ferguson, etc.

Tonight's game at Cleveland Stadium is one of three on tap for pro football fans and the only one in the National League. Sunday there are six NFL games scheduled and two in the AFL—one a replay of last season's overtime championship game.

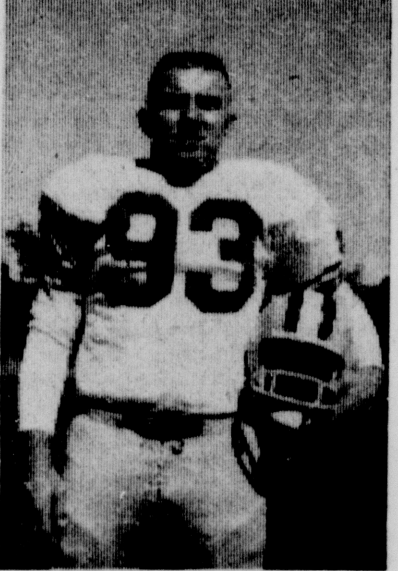

In the AFL, the New York Jets, hoping that two victories at home and first place in the Eastern Division will perk up their attendance at the Polo Grounds, again take on the Boston Patriots.

The other AFL game tonight sends the rebuilding Oakland Raiders, who have a 2-2 record, against the Bills at Buffalo. With Cookie Gilchrist below par and Jack Kemp unsteady at quarterback, Buffalo has lost three and tied one.

The Chicago Bears, heading the NFL's Western conference with three straight victories, play their first home game of the season Sunday against the Baltimore Colts, who have receivers Jimmy Orr and Ray Berry out of action. The Bears, in good condition, are expected to win handily.

Also strongly favored are the champion Green Bay Packers over the Los Angeles Rams, despite the doubtful condition of fullback Jim Taylor, and the Detroit Lions over the San Francisco 49ers, who have a new coach, Jack Christiansen, and a couple of untied quarterbacks. The New York Giants, with Y.A. Tittle in form, are expected to trim the Washington Redskins, who may be without their best defensive man, Johnny Sample.

The Minneapolis Vikings are given a home-field edge over the St. Louis Cardinals. Each has a 2-1 record and a chance to move

Linjala Is Star In Rock Victory

ROCK — Coach Roman Gill's Rock Little Giants celebrated homecoming here Friday afternoon with a 28-21 Wolverine Conference victory over Bark River-Harris.

The Little Giants snapped out of a 14-14 deadlock with a pair of third quarter touchdowns to clinch their second straight triumph after two opening setbacks.

Ed Linjala starred for Rock, passing to Robert Maki for one touchdown and running for two more. Mike Kulack punched over the other Rock TD.

Bill Kwarciany scored twice and Gregg Sagataw once for Coach Carlton Roel's Broncos. Rock drove the opening kickoff home with Kulack going over on a keeper from two yards out. Linjala flipped to Maki for the point, 7-0.

The Broncos drove 655 yards in the second period with Bill Hall hitting Kwarciany with a fourth down payoff pass. Kwarciany ran the point to tie it 7-7.

Rock went ahead 14-7 shortly before the half as Linjala tossed nine yards to Maki for the TD and ran for the point.

Bark River charged back to tie it 14-14 as Kwarciany scored from the eight and ran the point.

Linjala tallied two quick touchdowns for Rock, racing in from the five yard line and running the point to make it 21-14. Maki recovered a Bronco fumble and Linjala ripped off 16 yards with Kulack pounding over the extra point to boost the lead to 28-14.

Late in the fourth, Bark River's Tony Cavades fumbled off tackle and Gregg Sagataw recovered in the end zone for a touchdown. Kwarciany piled over for the point to make it 28-21.

Rock had 68 yards rushing and completed six of 10 passes for 103 yards. The Little Giants had six first downs and recovered three Bark River fumbles. Linemen Bill Johnson and Mike Ruotsala were outstanding.

Bark River picked up 113 yards rushing and hit on seven of 18 passes for 102 yards and seven first downs. The Broncos recovered one Rock fumble.

Veterans Want New Bonus Rule

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Veteran baseball players who believe they are being nudged off the payroll by the new bonus rule have called on management to come to their aid.

Under the new rule, if a big league club wants to protect from the draft a youngster to whom it may have paid $100,000 or so it must carry him on its 25-man roster. Sometimes he sits on the bench and sometimes he is sent to the minors and the big league plays with only 24 men. In a few instances, one club has protected two bonus babies this way.

The veterans believe this rule can cut short their careers by one to three years since the men dropped to make way for the youngsters are always the older players. Loss of playing years cuts into the rich baseball pension payments for the veterans.

"We have requested some type of immediate consideration to modify the bonus rules and protect the deserving veterans," said Robert Cannon of Milwaukee, the legal advisor of the baseball players.

National League Aids Tailenders

LOS ANGELES (AP)—National League club owners took a positive step to help the tailend New York Mets and Houston Colts Friday by making available a list of 32 players at $30,000 each.

Each of the eight other clubs would make a list of four players who were on the roster as of Aug. 31. The selling team is obligated to give up only one of these men at the $30,000 price tag but may negotiate for the sale of all of them if it wishes.

Warren Giles, president of the National League, said the lists must be presented by noon of the day following the last World Series game. He said he already had several of the lists and expected the others within a day or so.

"As soon as I get all the lists I will submit the names to the New York and Houston clubs," said Giles. "I expect they will make their selections immediately but they must make them before Oct. 14 when rosters are frozen for the draft."

When the selection meeting is held, probably in Cincinnati, the Mets will have first pick. George Weiss, president of the New York team, won the toss from Paul Richards, general manager of the Colts.

At the original player selection in October, 1961, when each club stocked its roster, the Houston club had first pick. At that time

British Golf Team Is Here

ATLANTA (AP)—The British Ryder Cup team was due here today to begin preparations for next week's Ryder Cup golf competition at East Lake Country Club.

Never in the history of the biennial matches have the British been able to defeat the Americans on a U. S. course, but the Britons are loaded with talent and confidence this year and are expected to offer a strong challenger.

Members of the team are Peter Alliss, Neill Coles, Tom Haliburton, Brian Huggett, Bernard Hunt, Geoffrey Hunt, Christy O'Connor, Dave Thomas, Harry Weetman and George Will.

Competition begins with four-some matches next Friday. Four-ball matches will be held Saturday and singles competitions will conclude play Sunday.

All of the matches will be 18 holes. Two rounds are scheduled each day with rival captains—Arnold Palmer of the U. S. and John Fallon—deciding the pairings.

Miss LeBrasseur Named Queen

Michele LeBrasseur, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl LeBrasseur was elected football queen for the Manistique homecoming game Friday against Newberry.

In her court will be Sue Olson, Dianne Mulhaupt and Jill Rydquist. The queen and her court were selected by students from a field of 13 candidates. All are seniors.

Football players have elected Francis Weber to serve as captain for the homecoming game.

Festivities next week will include a pep parade from Lincoln school through the downtown area to the football stadium Wednesday, beginning at 7 p.m.

St. Francis Has Three Attending Deacons Meet

Mrs. John R. Matthews will serve as chairman, with Mrs. J. J. Herbert and Mrs. Stella Paull assisting in presenting material on Bishop Baraga for the fall workshop of the Marquette Diocesan Council of Catholic Women at the Bishop Noa home for senior citizens in Escanaba, Sunday, Oct. 13. The building was formerly the Delta Hotel.

As in the past, the MDCCW will conduct workshops as a wrapup to Catholic Action week all through the diocese. The program plans for the Escanaba deaconry include a keynote address by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph J. Dunleavy, pastor of St. George Church, Bark River, and diocesan moderator. His address opens the general meeting.

The session will be followed by workshops in each of the seven departments of Catholic Action which have been selected by the Most Rev. Thomas L. Noa, bishop. A spiritual moderator and deaconry chairman will lead discussions in each session.

All women of affiliated units are invited. The affiliated units in the Escanaba deaconry include St. Francis de Sales, Manistique.

Miss LeBrasseur Named Queen

Michele LeBrasseur, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl LeBrasseur was elected football queen for the Manistique homecoming game Friday against Newberry.

In her court will be Sue Olson, Dianne Mulhapt and Jill Rydquist. The queen and her court were selected by students from a field of 13 candidates. All are seniors.

Football players have elected Francis Weber to serve as captain for the homecoming game.

Festivities next week will include a pep parade from Lincoln school through the downtown area to the football stadium Wednesday, beginning at 7 p.m.

St. Francis Has Three Attending Diocesan Meet

Mrs. John R. Matthews will serve as chairman, with Mrs. J. J. Herbert and Mrs. Stella Paul assisting in presenting material on Bishop Baraga for the fall workshop of the Marquette Diocesan Council of Catholic Women at the Bishop Noa home for senior citizens in Escanaba, Sunday, Oct. 13. The building was formerly the Delta Hotel.

As in the past, the MDCCW will conduct workshops as a windup to Catholic Action week all through the diocese. The program plans for the Escanaba deanery include a keynote address by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph J. Dunleavy, pastor of St. George Church, Bark River, and diocesan moderator. His address opens the general meeting.

The session will be followed by workshops in each of the seven departments of Catholic Action which have been selected by the Most Rev. Thomas L. Noa, bishop. A spiritual moderator and deanery chairman will lead discussions in each session.

All women of affiliated units are invited. The affiliated units in the Escanaba deanery include St. Francis de Sales, Manistique.

Eye Screening Starts Monday

Eye screening of all school children begins Monday, Oct. 7 in Schoolcraft County, Mrs. Chancy Hinkson, vision technician for the Department of Health reports.

Mrs. Hinkson was trained by the health department at Central Michigan University in Mount Pleasant and each year attends a two-day refresher at Northern Michigan University in Marquette.

With the routine screening and advising of parents of possible defects and need for complete eye examination by a doctor, the school and health authorities can help many children each year.

Hospital

Admitted to Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital: Marilyn Burton, Germfask; Eleanor Lofstrom, Iron Mountain; James Johnson, 403 Range St. and Verner Anderson, 125 N. Houghton. Discharged: Delma Archambeau, John MacGregor and Paula Rosebush.

MANISTIQUE

Betty Holmberg Bride Today Of William Bellore

Betty Lou Holmberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Holmberg, Rte. 1, became the bride today of William Joseph Bellore.

The Rev. Terrance F. Donnelly officiated at the 10 a.m. double ring ceremony in St. Francis de Sales Church.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bellore, 302 Cedar St.

Miss Sally Gardipee was maid of honor and Michael Radgens was best man. Ushers were Marvin Martin of K.I. Sawyer AFB, and Pierre LeBrasseur of Manistique.

Serving as flower girl and ring bearer, respectively were Linda Martin of Marquette, and Mark Peterson of Manistique.

The bride was attired in a white lace, floor-length gown fashioned with V-neckline, long sleeves, and ruffles. Her fingertip lace veil was caught to a scalloped crown with seed pearl trim. White poppies and red roses formed her bouquet.

Miss Gardipee wore a pink lace dress with matching headpiece. Her jewelry consisted of a cross, gift of the bride. Her bouquet was fashioned with pink carnations.

Mrs. Holmberg selected a beige dress with orange and brown accessories and Mrs. Bellore, a two-tone blue floral dress with black accessories.

A reception in the armory is scheduled.

The couple will travel to Detroit where Mr. Bellore is employed by Garavaglia Construction Co. He attended Manistique High School and previously was in the Air Force.

Mrs. Bellore is a 1962 graduate of Manistique High School and was active in the Glee Club and the GAA.

Gun Safety Program Slated For Students

Rod Smith of the Michigan Conservation Department will present a program on gun safety for Manistique High School students Monday from 2:15 to 3:15 p.m.

High School PTA Meeting Tuesday

The Central Junior and Manistique High School PTA meets Tuesday, Oct. 8, in the MHS auditorium with Mrs. John Vaughan, president in charge.

A highlight of the evening will be a program by Frank Wareham, new music director. He will speak on the vocal music program and sing and present instrumental numbers. Marvin Frederickson and Donald Desinger, principals will introduce the new superintendent, Edwin E. Wuehle. Hostesses will be parents of the senior class with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Jorgenson and Mr. and Mrs. Eric Tornberg will attend men. Interested people of the community are welcome.

The session will be followed by workshops in each of the seven departments of Catholic Action which have been selected by the Most Rev. Thomas L. Noa, bishop. A spiritual moderator and deanery chairman will lead discussions in each session.

Student Council Elects Officers

James Love has been elected president of the Manistique High School student council, John Males, vice president, Pierre LaFollette, treasurer and Karen Larson, secretary.

Elected to the council by grade were:
Senior - Tom Carlson, James Love, David MacCrae, Jim McDonough and John Males.
Juniors - Susan Bosanic, Cliff Cool, Rick Pawley, Jim Wood and John Wood.

Sophomores - Kristin Bonifas, Tom Brawley, Pierre LaFollette, Karen Larson and Jayne Swartstrom.
Freshmen - Steven Fish, Tina Gorsche, Bill Males, Sylvia Marks and Dennis White.

Briefly Told

Tabitha and Miriam Circles of Bethel Baptist Church meet Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the church.
The retail division of the Top O' Lake Chamber of Commerce meets Monday at 7 p.m. in Liberty cafe.

Fines totaling $124 and costs of $6 were assessed in Justice Court to Lloyd Roach Sr., of Newberry on three weighmaster tickets for overweight and overweight on trucks he owns.

State Police ticketed Frank M. Hopkins of Flint for speeding.

Fine of $25 and costs of $7.30 and 3-year revocation of deer hunting privileges were levied against Keith M. Walker, 43, of Gulliver when he appeared in Justice Court on a Conservation Department charge of having a 30-30 gun in a game area between sunset and sunrise.

Cars driven by Helen M. Seaman, 50, of Gulliver and Sally Jane Anderson, 20, of Gulliver collided on U.S. 2 east of the Parkington road in Doyle township Thursday at 4:45 p.m. Mrs. Seaman was ticketed for failure to signal. Her car was hit while she was attempting to turn left, and the Anderson car was attempting to pass, State Police said.

Father-Son Banquet Planned By VFW Tuesday

The annual Veterans of Foreign Wars Father-Son banquet is scheduled Tuesday at 6:30 p.m., in the club room. Commander Edward Jorgenson reports. The banquet will be prepared and served by the VFW Auxiliary under direction of its president, Mrs. Eleanor DeSautel. Mrs. Maybun Cousineau heads the committee for the program. The banquet is for all post members and their sons and sons of post members whose fathers are unable to attend. Members without sons may "borrow" one from the event or "adopt" one from the boys present without their fathers.

Lincoln PTA Has First Meeting

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Peterson presented an interesting program on Haiti and surrounding islands, which they visited last spring, at the first meeting of the Lincoln P.T.A. Colored slides and art objects from the islands were shown.

Mrs. Archie Carpenter, Mrs. Henry DeSautel, president, and Mrs. Ralph Deloria, Americanism chairman, from the V.F.W. Auxiliary presented a Michigan flag to Lincoln School. Miss Evelyn Berwin, principal, accepted for the school.

Mrs. Elmer Flodin, president, announced the following committee appointments: Defense stamp chairman, Mrs. Richard Berger; membership chairman, Mrs. William Beaudin; hostess chairman, Mrs. Joe Jackson; carnival chairman, Mrs. Fred Berger; audio equipment, Mrs. Henry Brolin, Mrs. Ronald Patrick.

The group decided to begin Defense Stamp sales Monday, Oct. 14, and to hold the annual carnival Friday, Nov. 8.

The room award was won by Mrs. Benjamin Gero's afternoon kindergarten.

Refreshments were served by the hostess chairman, Mrs. William Beaudin, and her committee of mothers from Mrs. Vert Guidebeck's first grade room: Mrs. William Pistulka, Mrs. Ray Hughton, and Mrs. Harold Beckman.

MYF Meeting

Mrs. Eugene Johnson will lead a "hootenanny" at the meeting of the Methodist Youth Fellowship at 5 p.m. Sunday in the church parlors. Music will be furnished by Mrs. Johnson on the autoharp.

Inquiry Opened On Train Crash

Officials of the Chicago & North Western Railway were meeting in Escanaba today in an inquiry which sought to determine the cause of the crash of the Peninsula "400" passenger train into a freight train in Marinette Wednesday night.

Sixteen persons, including three from Escanaba, were injured in the accident as the northbound passenger train hit an open switch and plowed into the freight.

Supt. J. C. Black of the Lake Shore Division of the North Western and other officials were among those at the inquiry being held at the House of Ludington. Attending also were Trainmaster O. W.

Brookes and others of Escanaba. The four members of Train 209 crew were all from Escanaba: George B. Olson, engineer; Robert E. Branam, fireman; Edward J. Guay, brakeman; and Joseph P. LaFave, conductor, who suffered a severe injury to his left leg. The other train crew members were unharmed.

The passenger train struck four box cars in the Marinette yards. The locomotive tipped on its side but the passenger cars remained upright.

Supt. Black said the investigation is in progress, but "we still haven't determined the cause of the wreck."

Black said a preliminary investigation showed that a light on the switch which turned the passenger train into the siding was out.

He said members of the train crew recalled seeing a green light at another switch a few feet south of the one that turned the train onto the siding, but did not see a light on the switch to the sidetrack.

He said there is "no evidence that the open switch which caused the wreck had been tampered with. The lock on the stand was open, but it had not been forced or broken."

He said the switch lights were normally checked every day.

Representing parent teacher associations from Grand Marais, L'Anse, National Mine, Stambaugh, Felch, Ishpeming, Negaunee, Marquette, Republic and K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base, the officers and committee chairmen discussed the desirability of establishing budget needs before fund drives, and need for adhering closely to PTA objectives.

A. B. Haist of Rapid City, first vice-president of the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers, appealed to the leaders to measure requests to sponsor community fund drives against their by-laws and objectives which relate to school concerns. Haist, former superintendent of schools at Negaunee, said the final decision is up to each individual PTA, but he cautioned against setting precedents that would change the role of parent-teacher groups in the community.

James W. Gooch, Marquette, information specialist of Michigan State University and chairman of the state PTA publicity committee, urged the officers to establish legitimate PTA budget needs before launching fund drives or planning money-raising activities.

The meeting followed similar workshops in Menominee and at the Kincheloe Air Force Base near Sault Ste. Marie.

Work is progressing on the Delta County School for Retarded Children on the Webster School campus as Project Pride hurries work to get the building enclosed for the winter so construction may continue on the interior in the cold months. This is the present stage of the building, with construction advanced huskily by spurts on weekends when volunteer bricklayers and other construction workers gave their labor to aid the project. Contributions of cash may be made to Retarded Children, Post Office Box 157, Escanaba. (Daily Press Photo)

Press Employees 100% For DUC

First 100 per cent employee contributor to the Delta United Charities fund campaign is the Escanaba Daily Press, it was reported today.

James G. Ward Jr., Escanaba Daily Press general manager, said that all of the newspaper's 46 fulltime employees are contributors to the Delta United Charities, whose fund drive started Tuesday, Oct. 1.

Goal of Delta Charities is $50,000 to finance the operating budgets of nine participating agencies in the year ahead. Volunteer workers are now busy throughout Delta County and the initial response has been excellent, said John Pearson, DUC campaign chairman. There are separate groups of solicitors for the townships, for Escanaba and Gladstone, for industry and business.

The nine agencies that are members of Delta United Charities, whose operations will be met by public donations to the Delta Charities fund are: Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Escanaba Branch of the Child Guidance Clinic, Salvation Army, Bay Cliff Health Camp, the local chapter for Retarded Children, the YMCA, and the Delta County Chapter of the American Red Cross, sponsor of the valuable Blood Bank program.

Escanaba's Tom Cleary, who is a deputy state treasurer in Lansing, suggests to the Press: "Now put the frosting on the political cake and come out strong for Bob Olsen for Congress. Ray Clevenger at the Soo has only been in the U. P. 10 years and the U. P. just doesn't go for carpetbaggers. Tom's brother Warren came home from Washington to run for the Democrats last time.) Olsen should be our man."

The U. P. Branch of the State Library doesn't charge a fine for overdue books like the libraries in Escanaba and Gladstone. How can they do any business with such competitors? Because local borrowers are supposed to use the Branch only as a backstop for books not available in the local libraries.

Jerome Verbrigghe of St. Nicholas killed a mother bear and cub on his farm recently. He was putting silage into his silo and was half-way up the ladder when he glanced towards his home and saw the mother bear and cub walk across his front lawn. He hurried to the house to get his but by the time he emerged with it the bears were at the woods near the home.

The mother bear climbed a tree, so he shot the cub first, and then the mother came down the tree in a rush and went for him. It took four shots to kill her. The Verbrigghe consider themselves steeped in hunters luck but their young son isn't playing in the front yard as often as he used to.

Holy Name Girls Green And Plaid

This week the Holy Name High School girl comes into a world unique to her and her classmates as she dons her new school apparel. Like the nurse in her professional world, the technician in her career world and the airline stewardess, the Holy Name girl achieves a status in the world of Catholic youth and scholastic endeavor. The smart green blazer and trim plaid skirt, tailored just for her, convey a special message to her school, to her classmates and to herself.

"A new esprit de corps is established at Holy Name with the new look in green and white," says Sister Catherine Dennis, girls principal. "A group of persons in the same uniform indicates the unity of purpose of their organization. The ideals of many girls at Holy Name are enriched through the unity of this symbolism."

Inquiry Opened On Train Crash

Officials of the Chicago & North Western Railway were meeting in Escanaba today in an inquiry which sought to determine the cause of the crash of the Peninsula "400" passenger train into a freight train in Marinette Wednesday night.

Sixteen persons, including three from Escanaba, were injured in the accident as the northbound passenger train hit an open switch and plowed into the freight.

Supt. J. C. Black of the Lake Shore Division of the North Western and other officials were among those at the inquiry being held at the House of Ludington. Attending also were Trainmaster O. W.

Leaders Of PTA Warned On Fund Campaign Roles

Fifty-three PTA representatives from 11 communities in five Upper Peninsula counties turned out for a district PTA workshop in Ishpeming Thursday.

Representing parent teacher associations from Grand Marais, L'Anse, National Mine, Stambaugh, Felch, Ishpeming, Negaunee, Marquette, Republic and K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base, the officers and committee chairmen discussed the desirability of establishing budget needs before fund drives, and need for adhering closely to PTA objectives.

A. B. Haist of Rapid City, first vice-president of the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers, appealed to the leaders to measure requests to sponsor community fund drives against their by-laws and objectives which relate to school concerns. Haist, former superintendent of schools at Negaunee, said the final decision is up to each individual PTA, but he cautioned against setting precedents that would change the role of parent-teacher groups in the community.

James W. Gooch, Marquette, information specialist of Michigan State University and chairman of the state PTA publicity committee, urged the officers to establish legitimate PTA budget needs before launching fund drives or planning money-raising activities. The meeting followed similar workshops in Menominee and at the Kincheloe Air Force Base near Sault Ste. Marie.

The four members of Train 209 crew were all from Escanaba: George B. Olson, engineer; Robert E. Branam, fireman; Edward J. Guay, brakeman; and Joseph P. LaFave, conductor, who suffered a severe injury to his left leg. The other train crew members were uninjured.

The passenger train struck four box cars in the Marinette yards. The locomotive tipped on its side but the passenger cars remained upright.

Supt. Black said the investigation is in progress, but "we still haven't determined the cause of the wreck."

Black said a preliminary investigation showed that a light on the switch which turned the passenger train into the siding was out.

He said members of the train crew recalled seeing a green light at another switch a few feet south of the one that turned the train onto the siding, but did not see a light on the switch to the sidetrack.

He said there is "no evidence that the open switch which caused the wreck had been tampered with. The lock on the stand was open, but it had not been forced or broken."

He said the switch lights were normally checked every day.

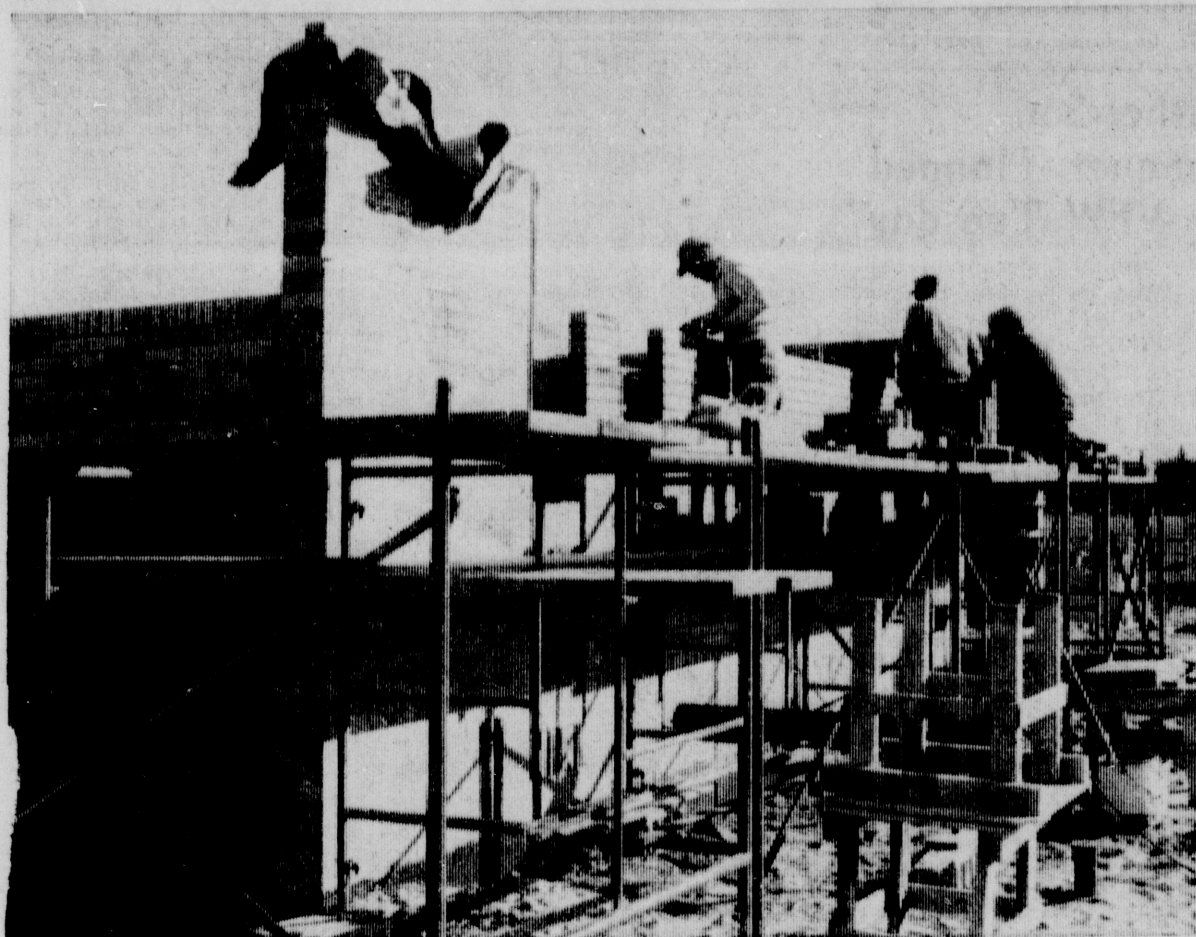

Argentina Pair Reaches Detroit In 1914 Model T

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Two bachelors from Buenos Aires, Argentina, leave here this week—on the last leg of a 13,000-mile trip from their home city to Detroit in a 49-year-old automobile.

Except for a one-day lap by boat from northern Colombia to Colon, Panama, Carolis Moral, 22, an engineering student, and Hugo Mistura, 25, a mechanic in the automobile agency of Moral's father, have covered the distance in a 1914 Model T Ford.

The two made a few changes in the car's ignition system and bought seven new tires—one of which is still unused—before they headed westward across Argentina's great plains last March 16. They had a pup tent and other camping supplies and $500.

To pay their way home, they hope to sell their ancient car in Detroit.

Work is progressing on the Delta County School for Retarded Children on the Webster School campus as Project Pride hurries work to get the building enclosed for the winter so construction may continue on the interior in the cold months. This is the present stage of the building, with construction advanced huskily by spurts on weekends when volunteer bricklayers and other construction workers gave their labor to aid the project. Contributions of cash may be made to Retarded Children, Post Office Box 157, Escanaba. (Daily Press Photo)

Briefly Told

The Lions Club of Escanaba will meet at 6:45 p.m. Monday at the Sherman Hotel when City Manager George Harvey and heads of the three city departments will present a "Know Your City" program. John Walbridge, M. H. Garrard and Don Guindon.

The Escanaba Chamber of Commerce Retail Division committee appointed by chairman Kryn Bloom to analyze the Jaycee's flag program proposal has reported it was unable to find sufficient support among the merchants contacted and recommends that retailers not participate in the program.

Press Employees 100% For DUC

First 100 per cent employee contributor to the Delta United Charities fund campaign is the Escanaba Daily Press, it was reported today.

James G. Ward Jr., Escanaba Daily Press general manager, said that all of the newspaper's 46 fulltime employees are contributors to the Delta United Charities, whose fund drive started Tuesday, Oct. 1.

Goal of Delta Charities is $50,000 to finance the operating budgets of nine participating agencies in the year ahead.

Volunteer workers are now busy throughout Delta County and the initial response has been excellent, said John Pearson, DUC campaign chairman. There are separate groups of solicitors for the townships, for Escanaba and Gladstone, for industry and business.

The nine agencies that are members of Delta United Charities, whose operations will be met by public donations to the Delta Charities fund are:

Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Escanaba Branch of the Child Guidance Clinic, Salvation Army, Bay Cliff Health Camp, the local chapter for Retarded Children, the YMCA, and the Delta County Chapter of the American Red Cross, sponsor of the valuable Blood Bank program.

Holy Family Altar Society Holds Meeting

FLAT ROCK — The regular meeting of the Ladies Altar Society of the Holy Family Church was held Tuesday evening with Mrs. Art Tourangeau Jr. presiding.

A member from each area of the parish was appointed to call women to get more to attend the Deanery Workshop to be held in November.

Plans were made for a party candy booth, and prize feature to be held in Nov. Proceeds will be divided between the Altar Society and the Retreat Club. Mrs. John MacGillis and Mrs. Gerald Carignan are co-chairmen of this party.

Father Thomas Andary spoke on the Bishop Baraga Cause and said he will do some research on the Bishop and work out a play in which the members of the society will participate.

Mrs. John MacGillis and Mrs. Orville Lantagne were welcomed as new members of the society.

Cards were played and winners were Mrs. Noella Chouinard and Mrs. Bruce McGuigan. Bunch winners were Mrs. Ed Solis and Mrs. Adolph Lippens. Mrs. Art Beauvais won the guest prize. Lunch was served by the Danforth area with Mrs. Lloyd Sodergren Sr., chairman.

Hospital

Patients admitted to St. Francis Hospital on Friday included: Mrs. Hubert Casey, 1604 Washington Ave.; Joseph DeMay, 226 N. 12th St.; Roy Eagle, Brampton; and Wesley Roushorm of 325 S. 18th St.

Chips And Splinters

Escanaba's Tom Cleary, who is a deputy state treasurer in Lansing, suggests to the Press: "Now put the frosting on the political cake and come out strong for Bob Olsen for Congress. Ray Clevenger at the Soo has only been in the U. P. 10 years and the U. P. just doesn't go for carpetbaggers. Tom's brother Warren came home from Washington to run for the Democrats last time.) Olsen should be our man."

The U. P. Branch of the State Library doesn't charge a fine for overdue books like the libraries in Escanaba and Gladstone. How can they do any business with such competition? Because local borrowers are supposed to use the Branch only as a backstop for books not available in the local libraries.

The Claude Tobins (he's Escanaba's parade master) have moved from their home of many years at 601 S. 9th St., to their new home, the former Joseph D. Cote residence at 928 6th Ave. S. Toby, who operates a rent-a-truck agency here, is one of our few citizens who can move by do-it-yourself method without getting a bill.

The Michigan Health Department mobile x-ray and diabetes check lab units have been at the Delta Menominee Health Department in the Delta County Building this week and doing a good free business with the sensible people who keep their health by watching it. The blood sample for the diabetes check was taken first and those tested were asked to take a chair for a few minutes afterward before visiting the x-ray truck because a few got lightheaded in the wagon.

Wonderful, the powers of imagination! It's a reminder of Army service days when medical corpsmen gave inoculations with all their might and the new GIs fainter like flies in DDT as the needles advanced.

Jerome Verbrigghe of St. Nicholas killed a mother bear and cub on his farm recently.

He was putting silage into his silo and was half-way up the ladder when he glanced towards his home and saw the mother bear and cub walk across his front lawn. He hurried to the house to get his gun but by the time he emerged with it the bears were at the woods near the home.

The mother bear climbed a tree, so he shot the cub first, and then the mother came down the tree in a rush and went for him. It took four shots to kill her. The Verbrigghe consider themselves stepped in hunters luck but their young son isn't playing in the front yard as often as he used to.

A STURDY STURGEON BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Fishing only six weeks, Ray Logan, 34, of Oakland, caught an 8-foot, 214-pound sturgeon. "I weigh 250 pounds myself and I'm worn out," Logan said after a 2½ hour battle.

Jalene Peterson, Holy Name High School senior, models the new school uniform for girls, green plaid skirt and green blazer. The school colors are green and white.

Holy Name Girls Green And Plaid

This week the Holy Name High School girl comes into a world unique to her and her classmates as she dons her new school apparel.

Like the nurse in her professional world, the technician in her career world and the airline stewardess, the Holy Name girl achieves a status in the world of Catholic youth and scholastic endeavor. The smart green blazer and trim plaid skirt, tailored just for her, convey a special message to her school, to her classmates and to herself.

"A new esprit de corps is established at Holy Name with the new look in green and white," says Sister Catherine Dennis, girls principal. "A group of persons in the same uniform indicates the unity of purpose of their organization. The ideals of many girls at Holy Name are enriched through the unity of this symbolism."

United Nations Reports To Be Heard By League

The two units of the League of Women Voters will meet next week to hear a report on the United Nations.

The evening unit meets Monday, Oct. 6, at 8 p. m., at Carnegie Public Library, and the morning unit at the home of Mrs. Russell Johnson, 316 S. 3rd St., on Wednesday, Oct. 9, at 9:30 a. m.

Mrs. Frank Neumeier, chairman of the United Nations item will bring members up to date on this subject. She is completing plans to bring the League's United Nations observer to Escanaba for the following meeting. The programs on Oct. 6 and 9 will be in preparation for hearing this observer.

Members of the Board of Directors are asked to meet at the home of Mrs. William Taylor on Wednesday, Oct. 9 at 1:30. Mrs. F. Douglass Bennett, state field consultant, will be in Escanaba to consult with the board.

Oh Susannah, Don't You Cry For Me!

What makes this fellow so carefree, cocksure and confident? Maybe it's because he's got a growing savings account! Nothing like it to boost a fellow's morale, and give him that secure, ready-for-anything feeling.

Things will look brighter to you, once you get the habit of saving in a credit union.

Beef Feeder Sale Planned Oct. 8

Owners of Luce County beef feeder cattle will leave with about 200 head of choice cattle for the annual Bay de Noc beef feeder sale scheduled for Tuesday, Oct. 8 at Escanaba.

Irwin Hansen of Luce County will be manager of the 1963 sale. Hansen and Max MacCauley of McMillan represent local beef producers on the Bay de Noc board of directors.

The gross profit from the sale is expected to represent 70 per cent ($25,000) of the total return from livestock in the county. The Escanaba sale will see around 1600 head of cattle sold by about 50 beef producers of the Upper Peninsula.
